Extra: Anaretic Aquarius Full Moon

On the 22nd, a full moon occurs in Aquarius. This is the second full moon in a row in Aquarius, which means it can tie into the previous full moon in Aquarius (July 23rd). This one is also anaretic, at 29 degrees, which is a point of crisis energy.

So this full moon may be bringing out some major endings and culminations that we got started with or had some idea of with the previous full moon.

With the full moon at 29 degrees, if you have any body in your natal chart at 29 degrees, you can feel this full moon strong (regardless of the aspect). Give that part of your chart full attention and try to find ways to use whatever it rules positively and have healthy outlets.

Aspects may also be felt out-of-sign (as if the full moon were in the next sign, Pisces) because it's so late, however out-of-sign aspects tend to not be very strong. They'd be between 0 degrees 0 minutes and 1 degree 37 minutes of Pisces (conjunct), Taurus or Capricorn (sextile), Gemini or Sagittarius (square), Cancer or Scorpio (trine), and Virgo (opposition).

This Aquarius energy comes with Jupiter back in Aquarius with Saturn, and the ruler of Aquarius, Uranus turning retrograde on the 19th. This may bring some major focus on our future, change, and our dreams.

What endings and culminations can you focus on? How can you use any bodies in your natal chart at 29 degrees? What changes can you work on, or how can you make progress with your dreams?
