Cancer 2018 Yearly Horoscopes	60

January 1st - 7th 2018

This week kicks off a new year, and it starts off with a full moon in your sign, Cancer, on Monday. Full moons in your sign are usually times where you reap what you've sown, and you can experience rewards and make progress if you've done things the right way, been smart and responsible, and are passionate about what you're doing, or you can experience setbacks and delays if you don't care for what you're focused on, lazy, or reckless. If the former, make the most of the progress and push forward even more; if the latter, focus on ways you can adjust. Your emotions can be heightened with this full moon as well, and you can focus more on yourself. On Tuesday, Uranus ends his retrograde (appears to move backward) in Aries and your goals sector, and you may have struggled with making changes with your goals or having more independence with what you're doing, but now you can move forward open to change that will help you get to where you want to be and take the lead. You can work on a new project or venture to start the week (one of your new year's resolutions!), and take a slow, steady approach midweek. You can gather information and work on your plans later in the week, and you can end the week taking a step back and making sure things are good at home and with family.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday, Tuesday

January 8th - 14th 2018

There may be matters at home or with family that you focus on addressing as the week begins, Cancer, and you can make this your priority. You can help out family or the people you view as family, giving them support or getting comfort from them. You can work on improving matters at home, and can feel best when you have a solid home base you feel emotionally connected to. Later in the week, you can be gentle with your heart, and spend time doing what brings you joy in healthy and positive ways. It can be a good time to make time for fun, and a small getaway can help you feel good. On Thursday, Mercury enters Capricorn and your relationship sector, and you can do your best thinking with a partner, or are more expressive and open with the people in your life over the coming weeks. You can benefit mentally when you feel balanced and are surrounded by peace, and when things are chaotic, you may lack focus and feel rattled. This can be a good time for compromises and negotiations. Over the weekend, work can call you, and you may need to tend to the tasks and chores and projects that have piled up and require your attention now. You can use your productive energy well, and get a lot done.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Wednesday, Thursday

January 15th - 21st 2018

The people in your life and your relationships can get most of your attention as the week begins with a new moon in Capricorn and your relationship sector, Cancer. You can focus on helping the people you care about with whatever they're dealing with, being supportive and understanding, and wanting to show how committed you are to them. You can pursue a new relationship, if single, and only want something serious, or you can reaffirm your commitment, if you're in a relationship. You may also work to be better balanced, compromising, and fair. Later in the week, you can work on a transformation for the better that will last, especially with Venus entering Aquarius on Wednesday and the Sun entering Aquarius on Friday. You can focus on doing research into what you need to know more about over the coming weeks, and you can take a serious approach to what you do. You can work on plans to transform, and you can have a stronger will. Over the weekend, you can take time away from the intensity and try to enjoy yourself a little more, feeling excited by expansion and exploration, and wanting to open your mind and see what's out there for you to find and learn. You can work on big plans, and have an optimistic attitude.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Saturday, Sunday

January 22nd - 28th 2018

One of your goals can take up a lot of your time as the week starts, and you can focus on trying to hit your stride, hit a high point, make some progress, or achieve some success. You can get recognition, make a good impression on someone, and have flashes of insight, or you can experience setbacks and delays if you need to change your approach. Later in the week, you can be open to change, and think about the ways change can benefit your life. You can think of new ways and new approaches, and feel more comfortable pursuing them. Mars enters Sagittarius and your work sector on Friday, and over the coming weeks, you can get a lot of smaller tasks and projects done, focus on work and daily life, have a more practical approach and work on the mundane, and get organized. The more you do, the more energy you may feel you have, so try not to push too hard otherwise you can cause yourself stress. Over the weekend, you can spend some time alone, getting some needed rest and recharging yourself internally.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Tuesday

January 29th - February 4th 2018

Mercury enters Aquarius on Wednesday, and a lunar eclipse occurs on the same day in Leo and your money sector, making that the big day for the week. With Mercury, you may focus on serious matters, have a more serious approach, and do some research over the coming weeks. Your focus can be intense, obsessive, and unrelenting, and you can be passionate about your ideas. You can make plans for transformations for the better, and be open to changes. With the lunar eclipse, you can settle financial issues or make changes to your financial approach, and prefer to take things slow and steady. You can work to be better grounded in your life, and bring more stability and security to your life. You can be more sensitive to what people think about you, and may need to work on tuning them out so you can have better confidence. The week starts with the Moon in your sign, and you can be more energized and enthusiastic about a new beginning. Midweek, you can take your time, and later in the week, you can gather information. You may end the week giving yourself support, strengthening yourself at your core, or craving some comfort.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday, Tuesday

February 5th - 11th 2018

The emotional energy you have can be strong as the week begins, and you can focus on getting to your inner core, giving yourself the comfort and support that you need, and staying within your comfort zone.

Spending time with the people who encourage you can help to keep you steady emotionally, and you can benefit from some familiarity.

Midweek, you can connect to your heart, and focus on the joy in your life and bringing more joy to your life and the lives of those you care for.

Later in the week, you can tackle the work you didn't want to get to during the week, and your productive side can kick in. You can get organized, make lists, and get as much done as you can while you can.

On Saturday, Venus enters Pisces, and you can enjoy expanding your life in new ways, having new experiences, and exploring the world over the coming weeks. You can open up to learning, teaching, writing, speaking, and sharing the knowledge and wisdom you've gained through experience. In love, you may want more space to feel that you're not being stifled, and if single, you may keep things loose and casual at first. If in a relationship, you may want to have more adventures with your partner. You may end the week making a compromise or keeping the peace.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Tuesday, Wednesday

February 12th - 18th 2018

On Thursday, a solar eclipse occurs in Aquarius, and this can bring positive energy for the week. You may have good energy for focusing on new transformations for the better in your life, doing research into things you need to know more about, handling serious matters, or pursuing ventures that are mutually beneficial. You may share more with others, and can be more comfortable with intimacy. On Saturday, Mercury enters Pisces, and the Sun enters Pisces on Sunday. Over the coming weeks, you can do your best thinking and feel most like yourself when you are coming up with big ideas, working on plans for expansion and exploration, opening up to new experiences, and focusing on the positives. You can be more optimistic and more enthusiastic about life. You may start the week spending time with the people in your life, seek to transform midweek, and want more space later in the week. You may end the week working on one of your goals, hitting your stride, hitting a high point, making progress, working on your long-term plans, and feeling more ambitious.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Friday, Saturday

February 19th - 25th 2018

The goals and ambitions that you're focused on most right now can take up your attention as the week begins, and you can work hard to make progress, hit your stride, hit a high point, or feel that you are on the right path. You can think about the direction that your life is taking, and can work on your long-term plans and make adjustments if needed.

Midweek, you can think further into the future, and what your hopes and dreams are. You can pursue opportunities to make your dreams a reality. You can be open to making changes that will make your dreams possible, and you can go outside of your comfort zone if you need to.

Later in the week, you may need to spend time dealing with issues from the past, subconscious issues, emotional baggage, or things that you need to clear out of your life. It may be a time of endings, and you can move on and let go. You can tend to matters on your own, and feel more comfortable doing things by yourself. The week comes to an end with the Moon in your sign, Cancer, which can increase your energy and drive, and feel more enthusiastic about pursuing new projects, ventures, opportunities, and beginnings.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Sunday

February 26th - March 4th 2018

With a full moon in Virgo on Thursday, you can use the energy to get something off of your chest, speak your mind, say what needs to be said, and can find it easier to express what you're feeling. You can identify more strongly with your ideas and plans, thoughts and opinions, and with what other people say to you, and people can take what you say more seriously. You can say what you mean and mean what you say. The Moon is in your sign, Cancer, to start the week, which can bring energy and drive for new projects and ventures that you can focus on for the next month. Focus on a new beginning or new opportunity that excites you and pushes you to take action. Midweek, you can feel more confident, and work to be more grounded in your life. The more grounded you feel, the more confident you can be. Later in the week, you can work on your short-term plans, and use up the mental energy that you have. You can keep yourself busy and be more sociable. Over the weekend, you can spend more time at home, with family or the people who support you, and create more emotional support.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday

March 5th - 11th 2018

On Tuesday, Mercury enters Aries and your career and life path sector, and Venus joins him on Wednesday, so you can enjoy focusing on your goals, ambitions, and direction over the coming weeks. You can work on making good impressions on the right people, making progress or hitting your stride, and working on your long-term plans. You can take a more practical outlook and apply it to your goals, and you can merge your view of the big picture with the details to come up with a solid and comprehensive plan. You may start the week wanting to get in tune with your heart to help yourself feel better emotionally, as you may crave more comfort and familiarity to kick the week off. You can enjoy focusing on the things you love to do in healthy and positive ways, or spending time with the people who remind you how to have fun and enjoy yourself. Later in the week, you can get down to work, and tackle the projects, tasks, and chores that you didn't have focus or time for earlier in the week. You can work hard to get them done, and want them out of the way so you don't have to worry about them later. Over the weekend, you can spend time with the people you care about, and enjoy having company.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

March 12th - 17th 2018

You can dig deeper into the things that you need to know more about, the things that you are passionate about, or the people that you care most about during the first half of the week. You can be more intense, unrelenting, or obsessive. You can take a step back later in the week, and give yourself and others more space. You may want to explore, and can open up your mind. On Saturday, a new moon occurs in Pisces, and you can pursue opportunities to expand your life in new ways, to have new experiences, or to explore new places. You can be more optimistic, and this can open up new possibilities to you. Mars enters Capricorn and your relationship sector on Saturday as well, and over the coming weeks, you can focus more on the people in your life and your relationships and partnerships. You can feel more energized when you have a partner and aren't doing everything alone. You can address issues in your relationships, and try to be more compromising and fair. The people in your life can be a major focus for you over the coming months. You may end the week focused on trying to achieve a goal, hit your stride, or alter the direction that your life is taking.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Thursday, Friday, Saturday

March 19th - 25th 2018

This week comes with some challenging energy, and you can feel it at the start as you focus on your goals and ambitions, and may experience some issues that you need to address right off of the bat. On Tuesday, the Sun enters Aries and your career and life path sector, and this can shine a light on your goals, long-term plans, direction, and the impressions you make on others over the coming weeks. This gets the spotlight likely because of Mercury, who turns retrograde (appears to move backward) in Aries on Thursday, and we can struggle with this energy for the next few weeks. You may experience setbacks and delays with your goals, feel you're going in the wrong direction, or have a hard time adhering to your plans and question yourself. It can be a good time to focus on an old goal or to reconnect with an old boss or mentor though. Midweek, you can make quick changes or strengthen your social circle, and take time to recharge yourself later in the week. The Moon is in your sign over the weekend, Cancer, and you can focus on yourself and tend to your own needs.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Saturday, Sunday

March 26th - April 1st 2018

You may prefer taking your time and going the slow-but-steady route as the week begins, feeling that this can help you manage the difficult energy that were all experiencing. Later in the week, you can pick up your pace, and keep yourself busy with lots to do, a full schedule, and short-term plans. Saturday is the big day for this week, and Venus enters Taurus and a full moon occurs in Libra and your home and family sector. With Venus entering Taurus, you may enjoy spending more time with your friends, in groups, meeting new people, venturing outside of your comfort zone, being independent, focusing on your dreams, or making changes over the coming weeks. With the full moon in Libra, you can settle issues at home or disputes with family, tackle issues that impact you emotionally, or work to strengthen yourself internally or to strengthen the foundation of something in your life. You may benefit from emotional support or from staying in your comfort zone. This can especially be true over the weekend, and you can spend time with the people who support you most, or in places that you know best.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Sunday

April 2nd - 8th 2018

Putting a smile on someone's face can help you to be more positive too, so you may start the week feeling more generous and trying to help other people feel better about life. As you spread the love and joy, you can feel better about your own life, and this can help you get in tune with your heart and the heart's of the people you care about most. Later in the week, you can turn your attention to the work that has to be tackled, or the smaller projects that need to be finished up. You may keep yourself busy with plenty to do, but may be tempted to take on too much at times, so try to avoid burning yourself out. You're only human, and can only do so much on your own, and shouldn't demand perfection from yourself when you know that isn't possible. Give yourself some room to breathe. Over the weekend, you can give your attention to the people in your life, and you can be the one who gets everyone together, finds the middle ground, negotiates and mediates, and is able to find some sort of compromise. This helps you to keep the peace and find some quiet.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday, Tuesday

April 9th - 15th 2018

The week may begin with you focused on serious matters, serious subjects, doing research, and trying to get to the heart of something. Your focus can be strong and passionate for whatever it is. Later in the week, you can step back a little and try to be a bit lighter and more optimistic. Life may seem like it changes pretty quickly over the weekend with a new moon in Aries and your goals and life path sector plus Mercury ending his retrograde (appearing to move backward) in Aries on Sunday. Over the last few weeks, you may have felt you weren't on the right path, weren't making the right impression, or struggled with focus on goals, ambitions, or responsibilities, but with the retrograde ending and a new moon in Aries, you may feel more energy and enthusiasm for your goals again, and can focus on getting back on the right path, getting praise or recognition for the things you've done right, and take on the responsibilities that you feel you should. You can work quickly to hit your stride, hit a high point, or make progress, and work on your long-term plans for action.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Thursday, Friday

April 16th - 22nd 2018

You may feel more open to changes that can improve your life for the better and to doing things in unconventional ways as the week starts, and you can feel more independent and open to original ideas. You can think outside of the box yourself, and expand your social circle or meet new people. Midweek, you can have an active imagination and feel more compassionate and understanding, and want to help others who can't help themselves. Later in the week, the Moon is in your sign, Cancer, and you can feel energy increase, focus on what you want and pursue new beginnings, and can be more motivated to take action with opportunities that excite you. On Thursday, the Sun enters Taurus, and over the coming weeks, you can feel most like yourself when you're spending time with your friends, in groups you belong to, meeting new people, focusing on your dreams, pursuing opportunities for your dreams, stepping outside of your comfort zone, and being more independent. You may end the week wanting to slow down and take time to enjoy the moment while you can.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Saturday, Sunday

April 23rd - 29th 2018

You may feel you need to take your time as the week starts, and don't feel like being pushed into anything you aren't ready for. You can focus on trying to bring stability and security into areas of life that have been chaotic lately, and work on addressing issues of confidence. On Tuesday, Venus enters Gemini, and over the coming weeks, you may be more affectionate and loving behind closed doors, enjoy being in the background and out of the spotlight, use your imagination and intuition more, or connect with your spiritual self. Midweek, you can sort through your ideas and work on new short-term plans for the ones you're really excited about pursuing. Later in the week, you can focus on matters at home or with family, and can be more nurturing and supportive of the people you care about. The week comes to an end with a full moon in Scorpio and your love sector on Sunday, and you can settle issues with loved ones, grow closer with someone you feel a soul connection to or further away from someone you don't, and you can feel more inspired and creative and can benefit from a creative outlet.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Sunday

April 30th - May 6th 2018

Your hobbies and creative energy can get your focus as the week begins, and you may want to make more time for what you enjoy most, the people you love most, or try to use your creative energy in everything you do. The more you enjoy what you do, the better your focus can be. If you have to be boring and mundane, you may not get as much done as you need to. Your focus for that can be better midweek, and you can tackle the projects and tasks that aren't very interesting or exciting, but are routine and things that you just need to get out of the way. You can be more productive, and once you get started, you can find you have even more energy to get more done, so you can tackle quite a bit. Later in the week, you can work to be more compromising and fair, and try to find middle ground for everyone to meet on. You can feel best when you are surrounded by peace and harmony, so you can strive to get people on the same page. With some peace, you can be more decisive and feel emotionally at ease. You may end of the week with stronger emotions.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday

May 7th - 13th 2018

You can work to get to the heart of a matter as the week begins, and your focus can be intense and passionate for whatever interests you. You can dive into serious matters, and take a serious approach to life. You can lighten up midweek and focus on the positives, preferring to be more optimistic and to pursue new opportunities. You can be open to what's possible, and feel confident in what you can accomplish when you set your mind to it. Later in the week, you can be better disciplined and focused, and may work to hit your stride, make progress, make a good impression, and you can receive praise or recognition. If you experience a setback or delay, you may need to change your approach or ask yourself if you really care about what you're doing. On Sunday, Mercury enters Taurus, and over the coming weeks, you can think outside of the box, work on plans for your dreams, do your best thinking with a group or with friends, or work on changes you'd like to implement.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Wednesday, Thursday

May 14th - 20th 2018

The energy this week is strong and busy, starting with a new moon in Taurus and Uranus entering Taurus on Tuesday. With the new moon, you can pursue opportunities to get closer to achieving your dreams, meet new people and expand your social circle, be more independent, or make a change. With Uranus, this is the start of this transit, and you can start making changes and being open to them over the coming months. On Wednesday, Mars enters Aquarius, and over the coming weeks, you can tend to serious matters, embark on transformations for the better, or pursue mutually beneficial projects or ventures. On Saturday, Venus enters your sign, Cancer, and you can enjoy getting attention, being in the spotlight, and may seem more attractive, charming, and pleasant over the coming weeks. On Sunday, the Sun enters Gemini, and you can feel most like yourself when you're on your own, using your imagination, or connecting to your spiritual self over the coming weeks. You may start the week spending time with friends, get extra rest midweek, start something new with the Moon in your sign later in the week, and end the week enjoying the moment.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Friday, Saturday

May 21st - 27th 2018

Bringing stability and security into your life can seem more important as the week begins, and you can focus first on the areas of life that would benefit most from some stability and security. You can feel more confident in yourself as you gain more stability and security. Midweek, you can focus on your mind, wanting to challenge yourself mentally or coming up with lots of new ideas that you can feel good about. You may be a little scattered with your focus though, so keep track of the ideas you really like and focus on the ones you feel strongest about. Later in the week, you can work on something from the ground up, try to strengthen the foundation of your life or something in your life, and tackle issues at the core. Over the weekend, you may want more attention from the people you care about, and can enjoy spending more time on your hobbies, with the people you love, or want more time to connect to your heart and not be so serious about life.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Saturday, Sunday

May 28th - June 3rd 2018

On Tuesday, Mercury moves into Gemini, and a full moon occurs in Sagittarius that same day, so it's a busy day. With Mercury entering Gemini, you can do your best thinking on your own, have a more active imagination, and keep more of your ideas and opinions to yourself until you're ready for others to hear them over the coming weeks. You may find other people to drain you mentally, and may need more time to let your mind rest when you're around others. With the full moon, you can focus on tackling work projects and getting the smaller mundane daily tasks and chores of life out of the way so they're not weighing you down. You can address issues that may be impacting your well-being overall, and work to manage your stress better. You may start the week feeling positive, enjoying attention, and being more generous and creative. Midweek, you can pay closer attention to the details and stick to schedules and deadlines. Later in the week, you can work on being better balanced, and focus on the things you haven't had time for lately. You may end the week being very serious about something, or trying to get to the heart of a matter that has vexed you as of late.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday

June 4th - 10th 2018

The serious matters that you need to dive deeper into can get your focus to start the week, and you can work on getting to the heart of them. Your focus can be intense and passionate, and you can keep digging until you find everything there is to find, and have a better understanding of what to do. Midweek, you can focus on being lighter and more optimistic, wanting to see the positives in every situation, and feeling better about your chances in life. You can share your wisdom with others, and learn from the world as well. Later in the week, you can take on more responsibilities, work to hit your stride with something, focus on the direction your life is going in, and try to get on the right path. You can be better disciplined, focused, and work harder for what you want. You may end the week spending time being more independent and free-thinking, letting yourself think outside of the box and wanting to work on changes that get you closer to your dreams.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday

June 11th - 17th 2018

It's a busy week, starting with Mercury entering your sign, Cancer, on Tuesday. Over the coming weeks, you can have an active mind, lots of new ideas and plans, and can be more open with what you come up with, wanting to share what's on your mind freely. On Wednesday, Venus enters Leo and your money sector, and over the coming weeks, you can enjoy splurging, indulging, being sensual, and can improve your confidence and security. A new moon occurs in Gemini on Wednesday as well, and you can pursue opportunities that keep you in the background or behind the scenes, improve your connection to your spiritual self or intuition, or use your imagination. You can spend time with friends as the week starts, but take time to be on your own and reflect or rest midweek. Later in the week, the Moon is in your sign, and you can be more energized to pursue something new, and focus on your own wants and needs. Over the weekend, you can remind yourself to be more present and live in the moment.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Thursday, Friday

June 18th - 24th 2018

The ideas that you come up with as the week begins can be what you're focused on, and you can work on your short-term plans for these ideas. You may come up with so many that you feel scattered at times, so try to keep track of the ones you come up with that you are most excited about so you can pursue them later. Later in the week, you can focus on the foundation of something in your life that you feel is a little shaky right now and needs to be strengthened. This may be internal or external. On Thursday, the Sun enters your sign, Cancer, and over the coming weeks, you may feel most like yourself when you are in the spotlight, getting attention, pursuing new beginnings, focusing on your own wants and needs, and making yourself more of a priority. Over the weekend, you can put aside anything serious and focus on having some fun. You can be more playful, joyful, and silly, and get in touch with your inner child, and can be more generous and affectionate with the people you care about.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Saturday, Sunday

June 25th - July 1st 2018

Mars turns retrograde (appears to move backward) on Tuesday in Aquarius, and Mars is retrograde in Aquarius until August. This may impact serious matters in your life, your ability to research, and your moods. You can be more easily dragged into shouting matches or become heated up quickly, full of frustration and rage. You can benefit from having an outlet for the moodiness and anger you may have, and to try and direct your passionate energy elsewhere. A full moon occurs in Capricorn and your relationship sector on Thursday, increasing the emotional energy around the start of the retrograde, and you may be more emotional with others and need to give yourself some support. Mercury enters Leo and your money sector on Friday, and you can focus on improving stability and security over the coming weeks. As the week begins, you can focus on getting little things out of the way if you can, and be better balanced later in the week, Over the weekend, you may want to focus on transforming for the better.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Friday

July 2nd - 8th 2018

You may be focused on serious matters to start the week, and strive to get to know more about them, but quickly, you can take a step back and give yourself some breathing room. You may want the space so you don't feel quite so serious and quite so weighed down by the wonky energy that we're all dealing with right now. You can come up with big ideas and try to be more optimistic. Later in the week, you can focus on being more practical and getting down to what matters. You can be more responsible and mature, and take the lead. You may need to be the adult in certain situations, and be the one that other people are looking to for guidance. You can work quietly on your goals as well, and try to stay on the right track no matter what is happening. Over the weekend, you can make time for friends or the groups you belong to, and can spend time doing something good for the world, feeling more charitable and wanting to improve the world in some way.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Tuesday, Wednesday

July 9th - 15th 2018

Venus enters Virgo on Monday, and over the coming weeks, you may enjoy using your mind, connecting with others mentally, talking things over with others, having mental stimulation, coming up with new ideas and plans, and focusing on a variety of interests. On Friday, a solar eclipse occurs in your sign, Cancer, and you can focus on the opportunities and beginnings you want to pursue, what excites you and you're enthusiastic about, and what you're driven to achieve in healthy and positive ways. The energy may not be best to take action right away, but you can be ready when it is. You may start the week wanting some time to yourself to rest, relax, recharge, and reflect, and can turn inward and quietly work on plans. Midweek, you can be more open with what you're doing, and be more comfortable with getting attention. Later in the week, you can take your time with decisions and actions, not wanting to be pushed into anything, and you may end the week with some new ideas.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Thursday, Friday

July 16th - 22nd 2018

You may start the week with lots of new ideas and an active mind, and can work on short-term plans and keep yourself busy. You can be more engaging with others, and may pursue projects that allow you to use up your mental energy. Midweek, you can focus more on your emotions and what you're feeling about certain situations or certain people. You may work on strengthening the foundation of your life or of yourself. Later in the week, you may want more time and energy for your hobbies or what you enjoy most in life and healthy and positive ways. You may connect to your inner child and be more playful and joyful. You may work on your schedule for the next week and get organized as the week comes to an end. On Sunday, the Sun enters Leo and your money sector, and over the coming weeks, you may feel most like yourself when you are feeling financially secure, splurging on yourself or the people you care about, indulging, getting in tune with your senses, improving stability or security in your life, or feeling more confident.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Friday, Saturday

July 23rd - 29th 2018

This may be a challenging week for us all with Mercury turning retrograde (appearing to move backward) in Leo and your money sector on Thursday, and a lunar eclipse on Friday in Aquarius, the sign opposite Leo. You may struggle with personal finances, your confidence, stability and security, or feel stuck over the coming weeks with the retrograde, and it may be because you're focusing more on something that you're wrapped up in, fighting for power and control over something, or needing to dig deeper into yourself, your life, and bring out some of the darkness into the light. Emotions can be heightened greatly, and you can easily get into a foul mood, so try to have an outlet for your emotional energy. Give yourself some space so you're not getting so obsessed, and remember to enjoy the moment sometimes. You may start the week trying to get little things out of the way and feeling more productive with your time, and can focus more on your relationships, partnerships, commitments, and compromises later in the week. You can spend time over the weekend trying to work on a transformation for the better, and this can be a positive use of the energy right now.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday, Tuesday

July 30th - August 5th 2018

There can be big ideas you may want to work on as the week begins, though you may not have much opportunity to take action right now. You can be optimistic about your chances and feel you have a good chance down the road, but the options may be limited at the moment. This likely doesn't deter you, and you can keep looking at the bright side and make plans for down the road. You can see the big picture pretty well, and this can help you to work on your long-term plans later in the week with a more practical outlook. You can be realistic about what is possible, what you can do on your own and what you may need help with, and what responsibilities you may need to take on soon or you may need to ask others to do for you. Over the weekend, you can focus on your friendships or the groups you belong to, and make time for your friends or groups, wanting to feel a better connection with them. You can enjoy the time you get with them, and you can feel more comfortable venturing outside of your comfort zone or doing something in a different way from usual.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday, Tuesday

August 6th - 12th 2018

This very busy week kicks off with Venus entering Libra and your home and family sector on Monday. Over the coming weeks, you can enjoy spending more time at home, with family, giving yourself emotional comfort and support, strengthening the foundation of something in your life, or starting something from the ground up. On Saturday, a solar eclipse occurs in Leo, and this can help you focus on financial matters, ways to bring stability and security to your life, and work on getting better grounded. You may not be able to do much with these right now, but you can prepare for when you can. On Sunday, Mars retrogrades (appears to move backwards) into Capricorn and your relationship sector. You may experience struggles with your relationships, your dealings with other people, with finding peace and making compromises, and may find yourself in more arguments or experiencing more opposition from other people. Be more patient with others as well as with yourself. You may want more time to yourself as the week begins, and with the Moon in your sign midweek, you can have more energy and drive. You can feel more confident later in the week, and end the week being more active, engaging, and open with what's on your mind.

Midweek, you can tend to yourself emotionally, tackle matters at home or with family, or work on something from the ground up. You can get back to basics, or get to the core of something. Later in the week, you can enjoy getting more attention, and can be more generous, fun-loving, and friendly. You made may week finishing smaller tasks and projects. The big event for this week occurs on Sunday, as Mercury ends his (retrograde appearing to move backwards) in Leo and your money sector. We've had to deal with this retrograde for the last few weeks, and you've likely been dealing with financial issues, lack of stability or security, or have felt stuck. Now that the retrograde is ending, you can work to get your finances in order, bring stability or security to areas of life that have been chaotic, and get things moving again in the areas of life where you have felt stuck.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Thursday, Friday

August 20th - 26th 2018

The Sun enters Virgo on Thursday, and over the coming weeks, your mental activity can surge, and you can feel most like yourself when you're using your mind and keeping yourself active. You can come up with new ideas and new plans, and want to fill up your schedule and be more engaging with others. On Sunday, a full moon occurs in Pisces, and you can finish plans for expansion, exploration, and new experiences, and try to be more optimistic about life. You can focus on the good, and defend your beliefs and causes. You may start the week being productive, getting work done, and keeping busy with plenty to do, but may need a break at some point. Midweek, you can bring some balance into your life, and this can restore you emotionally so you stay calmer and focused. Later in the week, you can work on a transformation for the better, and take a serious approach to life in general. You may end the week feeling a little bolder and positive, and you may crave more space to do whatever you want and get out into the world for a little while.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Sunday

August 27th - September 2nd 2018

On Monday, Mars ends his retrograde (appearing to move backward), which we've been dealing with since late June and has been throwing everyone off. The retrograde began in Aquarius and now comes to an end in Capricorn, and has likely been impacting your close relationships and dealings with others during this time. With the retrograde ending, you can focus on getting your relationships back on track, and working to grow closer with your loved ones, transform, and grow. You may think about your big ideas as the week begins, and work on plans for new experiences and take on a more optimistic outlook. You can work on realistic long-term plans midweek, and try to assess what goals you want to focus on as you move forward, and how you can make progress and achieve success. Later in the week, you can be open to changes that need to be made, and feel that you may need be more independent and do things in new ways to get what you want. You may end the week wanting some extra time on your own to rest, and needing some quiet time for reflection.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday

September 3rd - 9th 2018

Mercury moves into Virgo on Wednesday, and you can have more mental energy, more ideas and plans, and can focus on lots of different interests over the coming weeks. A new moon occurs in Virgo on Sunday, and you can pursue a new idea, take action with a plan, keep yourself busy and active, have an important communication, or use your mind more. Venus moves into Scorpio and your love sector on Sunday as well, and you can enjoy spending more time with loved ones, engaging your hobbies, picking up new hobbies, being creative, and being affectionate over the coming weeks. You may start the week wanting some time alone to rest and recover, and the Moon is in your sign midweek, so energy can return and you can focus on starting something new to focus on for the next month. Later in the week, you can be confident in your decisions but take your time to make them, and over the weekend, you can keep busy, be more engaging, and open up about what you're thinking, wanting to express yourself more openly.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Tuesday, Wednesday

September 10th - 16th 2018

Mars enters Aquarius on Monday, and you can focus on serious matters and getting to the heart of situations and people over the coming weeks. You can take a serious approach to situations, and you can be more researching. Your focus can be unrelenting, and you can stick with something, seeing it all the way through, or come back from defeat or failure and strengthen your will. You may also work on a transformation for the better of something in your life, and it can last for a long time. You can get in tune with your emotions earlier in the week, and strengthen yourself internally at your core, get or give support, and focus on the foundation of something in your life. Later in the week, you can get creative, make time for your hobbies, or spend more time with the people you love, feeling affectionate and generous. Over the weekend, you can focus on the work that you didn't get to during the week, and try to get as much done as you can. You can be more productive and efficient with your time and energy, and work to get organized, bring structure and order to your life, and streamline.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Thursday, Friday

September 17th - 23rd 2018

Your relationships can be more important to you as the week begins, and you can spend the week focused on the relationships you have and people in your life. You can assess your relationships, what impact they have on you, which ones need some help and which are going well, which ones you can improve and which you may need to walk away from. You can understand both sides to situations and weigh the pros and cons of decisions you make and actions you take, and you can carefully deliberate before coming to conclusions. You can make compromises and play negotiator and mediator and diplomat. You can be more intense later in the week, and want to understand more of what's going on with loved ones and in certain situations. You can give more of yourself in relationships and share more with others if you feel they are as dedicated as you are. Your passion may be intense though, and you may need to take it down a notch. On Friday, Mercury enters Libra and your home and family sector, and the Sun joins Mercury on Saturday, so over the coming weeks, you can focus more on your home and family life, emotions, and foundation. You can feel most like yourself when you're in the places you feel are home and with the people who support you. Your head and your heart can come together, and you can express what you're feeling more easily and understand the emotions of situations more easily. You can tend to emotional needs, and work to strengthen yourself internally as well as to strengthen the foundation of some aspect of your life. Over the weekend, you can be more gregarious and open to some exploring.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Saturday, Sunday

September 24th - 30th 2018

You can come up with big ideas to start the week, and feel excited by the ideas you come up with. You can work on plans for expansion, exploration, and new experiences, and dream up adventures you'd love to have. You may not take action right now, but you can enjoy the time spent working on the plans for it. Midweek, you can be more practical and realistic, and you may take on a new responsibility or have to take the lead with something. People can look to you to be the one who leads the way. You can focus on the direction you're going in, and feel confident in your path in life. Later in the week, you can spend time with your friends, groups you belong to, pursue a cause you believe in, or focus on a dream for your future. You can be more independent, innovative, original, and open to change or to trying things out that you wouldn't have thought of before. Over the weekend, you can take time to be by yourself if you want to get extra rest or work on your plans without interference. If you deal with other people, you can be more compassionate and understanding.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday

October 1st - 7th 2018

With Venus turning retrograde (appearing to move backward) in Scorpio and your love sector on Friday, that can be the big focus for not only this week, but the month of October since this lasts the rest of the month in Scorpio. You may feel the impact in your love relationships, and may struggle with affection, sharing the love you feel, spending enough time with loved ones, getting enough time to do the things you love to do, or taking too much time away from work so you can play and important life stuff ends up not getting done. You may be more theatrical and dramatic, want more attention, or demand too much from others, and need to do a better job of meeting your own needs. It can be a good time for reconnecting with old loves or old hobbies though. You may start the week slowly, but feel more energy and drive midweek. Later in the week, you can work on being more grounded and bringing stability into your life. Over the weekend, you can work on short-term plans and new ideas, and can be more open with what's on your mind.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Tuesday, Wednesday

October 8th - 14th 2018

You can be better in tune with your emotions and what you need for comfort and support as the week begins, and help to strengthen yourself internally so you're more emotionally at ease. A new moon occurs on Monday in Libra and your home and family sector, and this can bring helpful energy for dealing with matters at home or with family, being more positive emotionally, and strengthening the foundation of something in your life. You may also consider starting something from the ground up. On Tuesday, Mercury enters Scorpio and your love sector, and you can focus on creative projects and ventures that you enjoy, as well as the issues brought up by Venus retrograde in this sign over the coming weeks. You may crave more time for fun and want to avoid too much work, and this can feel especially true later in the week, but you may need to make time for the tasks and chores that have to be done over the weekend. Your focus can be better then, and you can tend to the smaller projects that you can get done quickly so you're free to play.

October 15th - 21st 2018

Your charm can be high as the week begins, and you can focus on the people in your life and what they need, or your relationships and how you can make them better. You can be more focused on others than on yourself, and make helping other people more of a priority. You may feel you need to be there for someone, and you can be a good cheerleader and supporter. Later in the week, you can be more intense, and whatever you work on, you can throw yourself into fully. You likely won't want to do anything halfway, and dedicate yourself fully. It can be a good time to work on a transformation for the better, and you can make some progress with it quickly. Over the weekend, you can be more enthusiastic and positive about life, focusing on the good in your life and the possibilities available to you. You can unlock new opportunities with your optimism, and this can open you up to new experiences, methods of expansion and exploration, and to sharing your good vibes with others.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Saturday, Sunday

October 22nd - 28th 2018

One of the goals you've been working toward likely takes your focus as the week begins, and you can work on making more progress, hitting your stride, hitting a high point, or achieving some measure of success. You may want to make a good impression on someone or make an important connection, and can put your best foot forward. On Tuesday, the Sun enters Scorpio and your love sector, and you may feel most like yourself when you're focused on creative projects and ventures, doing the things you love to do in healthy and positive ways, and spending time with the people you love most who make you enjoy life. You may come across as friendlier, more fun-loving, or playful. A full moon occurs on Wednesday in Taurus, and this may be a time where you seriously focus on your dreams for your future and assess which you want to continue to work on and which you want to walk away from. You might make some progress with a dream you've done right by, or experience a setback with one you haven't. You can settle issues with friends or groups, or walk away from one. You may spend more time on a cause you're passionate about, or decide to call it quits. You likely don't want to be boxed in now, and will rebel if you feel you are, especially later in the week. Over the weekend, you can take some time to be alone, and get some rest.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday, Tuesday

October 29th - November 4th 2018

The week begins with the Moon in your sign, Cancer, and this is usually a good time to start something new you can focus on for the next few weeks. You can be energized, enthusiastic, and excited, and you can focus on your own wants and needs. Midweek, you can stick with it, and get some of the grunt work out of the way that needs to be done. On Wednesday, Venus retrogrades (appears to move backward) in Libra and your home and family sector, and you may struggle with matters at home, with family, or that impact you emotionally over the coming weeks. Emotional expression and connection in relationships may not be so great, and you may not feel as supported as you want, or you may see a relationship hit bottom. Try to focus on the good and see where you can go from there. Mercury also enters Sagittarius and your work sector on Wednesday, and you can be more attentive, hard-working, focused on smaller projects, and have an eye for the details over the coming weeks. You may have more ideas and plans later in the week, and work on sorting them out, and can end the week spending time with the people who support you or tending to your emotional needs to deal with venus retrograde.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday, Tuesday

November 5th - 11th 2018

Some big-time movement occurs this week, starting with Uranus retrograde (appearing to move backward) going from Taurus back into Aries on Tuesday. Uranus started a new tour in Taurus this year, and the next few months in Aries will be the last, so this is a time to tie up loose ends and finish what you've started. For you, this can focus on your goals, ambitions, and direction, and the changes you've undergone in this area over the last 7-8 years. On Wednesday, a new moon occurs in Scorpio and your love sector, and you can get good energy for creative projects and ventures, sharing the love you feel, being more affectionate and romantic, getting in touch with your playful side, and being more joyful. Jupiter moves from Scorpio to Sagittarius and your work sector on Thursday, where he'll be for the next year, and you can get his beneficial energy now with your work life, daily life, and health. You can pursue new work opportunities, focus on work that you enjoy, make improvements in your daily life, feel more productive and get more done, and improve your lifestyle to get healthier. It's not all sunshine right away though, as Mercury will retrograde in Sagittarius starting next week, so we may not see the good energy until after that ends, but once it does, you can work to make the most of Jupiter in your work sector. You may start the week spending time at home or with family, craving support and encouragement, and get in touch with your heart midweek. Later in the week, you can be better focused and hard-working, and you may end the week wanting time with loved ones and keeping the peace.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Tuesday, Wednesday

November 12th - 18th 2018

This can be a wonky week, first with Mars entering Pisces on Thursday, and bringing lots of big ideas and plans for expansion and exploration over the coming weeks. You can focus on the bright side, be open to an adventure, and want to pursue new possibilities. Then Venus ends her retrograde (appearing to move backward) on Friday, moving forward again in Libra and your home and family sector, and you can work on repairing issues at home or with family. But then we have Mercury retrograde starting on Friday as well, in Sagittarius and your work sector, so you may have a hard time getting work done, tending to the details, handling small projects and tasks, and feel extra stressed out over the coming weeks. Try not to put so much on your plate to avoid overwhelm. You can spend time with loved ones to start the week, work on a transformation for the better later in the week, and give yourself some space over the weekend if you're feeling like you're dealing with a lot and need the room to breathe.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Friday, Saturday

November 19th - 25th 2018

You can feel more ambitious than usual as the week starts, and you can focus on your goals, what you want to achieve, and work hard to hit a high point with something. You can be more responsible and practical, and stick to long-term plans to make some progress. Midweek, you can push yourself further outside of your comfort zone to try and make more progress, or at least get closer to your dreams for your future. On Thursday, the Sun enters Sagittarius and your work sector, and over the coming weeks, you can be more productive and efficient, focus on smaller tasks and chores, and streamline your daily life. On Friday, a full moon occurs in opposing sign, Gemini, and you can tend to your spiritual, internal needs, get some extra rest, and focus on emotional baggage, issues from the past, or subconscious issues. It can be a good time for a release, and you can focus on how you're of service to others and to yourself. The week ends with the Moon in your sign, and you can get a shot of energy as the week comes to a close, and may feel excited about something new.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Sunday

November 26th - December 2nd 2018

This week begins with the Moon in your sign, Cancer, and you can focus on something you want to get started with now, but with Mercury retrograde (appearing to move backward), it might be wise to stick to something you've tried before and want another shot at, or something that you can finish in less than one week. Midweek, you can slow things down and take your time, not wanting to rush anything with the energy being so wonky now. Later in the week, you can fill up your schedule and feel more engaging, wanting to use your mental energy thoroughly. You can come up with new ideas, but you may not have the time to do much with them. On Saturday, Mercury retrogrades into Scorpio and your love sector, and over the next week, you may struggle with your love relationships, with using creative energy, with being inspired, or with getting the attention you want. Try to give yourself some time to goof off and not be too focused on the mundane. Over the weekend, you can work on strengthening yourself internally so you can better handle the challenges of life.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday

December 3rd - 9th 2018

This week, Mercury ends his retrograde (appearing the move backward) on Thursday in Scorpio, your love sector. Mercury has been retrograde in Scorpio since December 1st, and you've likely been dealing with issues with loved ones, having difficult communications with the people you care about, or have had a hard time feeling the love for anything. With the retrograde coming to a close, you can start to be more expressive with love and connect to your heart again after another week or two. Come Friday, a new moon occurs in Sagittarius and your work sector, and this can be a great new moon for starting work projects or picking ones back up that got dropped last month when the retrograde started. You can pursue work opportunities, strive to enjoy the work you do, get attention for work you've done, or improve your schedule or routine to be more productive and efficient. You can also work on improving your lifestyle to get healthier, or work on managing your stress better. The week begins with the Moon in your home and family sector, focusing on matters at home or with family, and helping you connect to your emotional self. Midweek, you can be a little lighter, and later in the week, you can work on smaller tasks and projects. Over the weekend, you can spend time with the people you care about, make compromises and meet people in the middle, and have a little peace.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Tuesday, Wednesday

December 10th - 16th 2018

The first half of this week can focus on the people in your life and your relationships, and you can work on growing closer with the people you love. You can strengthen emotional bonds and try to gain more understanding of them. Just make sure you're not being clingy with them or demanding more than they can give. On Wednesday, Mercury enters Sagittarius and your work sector, and this can help you pay closer attention to the details and work on lots of smaller projects over the coming weeks. You can keep yourself pretty busy, wanting to use up the extra mental energy you can have, and you may work on your schedule or daily routine to be more productive, or change up your regimen to become healthier. Later in the week, your outlook can become optimistic, and you can focus on new ways to expand your life, explore the world, and have new experiences. It can be a good time for learning or teaching. You may end the week working on your long-term plans for your goals, or focused on the direction your life is going in. Your view of your path may be clearer, and you can assess if you're on the path you want to be on.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Thursday, Friday, Saturday

December 17th - 23rd 2018

One of your goals may be your biggest focus as the week kicks off, and you can work hard and smart to make progress and achieve some measure of success. You can do your homework, get advice from someone you trust, and work on your long-term, plans to be as realistic as possible and get you closer to where you want to be. Midweek, you can think more long-term, and focus on what you want your future to look like. Later in the week, you can take a break and let your imagination take over, getting lost in daydreams and fantasies. On Friday, the Sun enters Capricorn and your relationship sector, and over the coming weeks, you can give more of your attention to the people in your life and your relationships. You can be more committed, compromising, charming, and fair-minded, and work to be better balanced. On Saturday, a full moon occurs in your sign, Cancer, and the week ends with the Moon in your sign, so you can focus more on yourself, your own wants and needs, and be more open emotionally. Your emotions can be more intense, and you can get in touch with your inner self. You may see the culmination of something, get rewarded for hard and smart work, responsibility and passion, or experience a setback or delay if you need to change your course or come to terms with what you really want to be focused on.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Sunday

December 24th - 30th 2018

The last full week of 2018 begins with the Moon in your sign, Cancer, and you can start the week with energy and enthusiasm, focused on what you want to get started with. A new beginning, project, plan, or venture now can be a focus for the next month of your life as you go into a new year. Midweek, you can stay the course and get some of the stuff out of the way that requires a steady hand or concentrated focus. You can feel confident in what you do, your abilities and decisions, and in life in general. If you need some stability or security, you can work to bring that into your life. Later in the week, you can come up with plenty of ideas, work on your short-term plans, get advice, and gather information that you need to move forward. You can be excited by what you come up with, and ready to take the next step. Over the weekend, you can work on the foundation, trying to make certain that the foundation is strong and can withstand any trials and tribulations along the way. With a solid foundation, you can feel secure and emotionally at ease.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday

December 31st 2018 - January 6th 2019

Mars moves into Aries and your goals and life path sector on Monday to start the week and end 2018, and you can go into 2019 focused on your goals, feeling more ambitious, working to hit new heights and make progress and achieve success, and hitting your stride over the coming weeks. You can make impressions on the right people, and see something you started from the bottom up about one year ago reach a height now. You can be focused on what you want, and do what it takes to make it happen. On Friday, Mercury enters Capricorn and your relationship sector, and you can work best with a partner and get help from the people in your life over the coming weeks, so you may not be doing all of this alone. You can do your best thinking with a partner, and enjoy bouncing ideas off of others. This is helped by a solar eclipse in Capricorn on Saturday, and you can pursue opportunities for new relationships and partnerships, to bring more balance into your life, and to find some peace. You may start the week wanting to enjoy yourself and goof off, get work done later in the week, and spend time with loved ones over the weekend.

Best days of the week for Cancer: Monday, Tuesday

Cancer 2018 Yearly Horoscopes

Love & Relationships:

Jupiter remains in your love sector to start 2018, and you can use his beneficial, expansive energy to bring more love into your love, share the love you feel, and be more affectionate. If single, you can enjoy playing the field and meeting lots of new suitors, and if in a relationship, you can work to bring the sparks back. This is especially the case to kick the year off with Mars also in this sector in January. In October, Venus retrogrades (appears to move backward) in your love sector though, and you may experience issues with loved ones, feel less love for something or someone, or are desperate for attention. Mercury then retrogrades in this sector the first week of December, and you can experience communication issues with loved ones. Make sure you have extra patience during these retrogrades. They can be good for reconnecting with old flames.

Mars is in your relationship sector mid-March through mid-May, bringing more energy, drive, and focus to your relationships and the people in your life. Mars moves into your intimacy sector mid-May, making that more of a priority, but retrogrades in your intimacy sector late June through mid-August, and then in your relationship sector the second half of August. This can bring some struggles in a relationship, with someone in your life, and you may feel you're being tested. You may need to work on finding middle ground and coming together, and avoid giving in to petty arguments and being defensive. Mars is in your relationship sector to mid-September, and then in your intimacy sector to mid-November, so you're spending a good chunk of 2018 focused on your relationships. This can be a great time to work on making them better, especially with Saturn and Pluto in your relationship sector all year. See where you can improve, where you can transform, and where you need to let go.

The solar eclipse February 15th occurs in your intimacy sector, and you can bring positive energy to your intimate relationships and work to open up more. The July 27th lunar eclipse occurs in this sector, and you can eliminate issues and work on letting go.

Career & Money:

Uranus is at the end of his time in your career and goals sector, here to mid-May and back again in early November for one last go around. Uranus has brought some change energy to your professional life and goals, and that can start wrapping up now. This may be the time when you feel you need to make last-minute changes now, while you still have the chance, before the energy goes away. You can really feel that way when Mercury is retrograde in this sector late-March to mid-April, and you can be more antsy and want to push for something new fast. Try not to be impulsive and make changes just for the sake of change.

Jupiter enters your work sector in early November, and you can unlock more work opportunities and focus on work that you enjoy as the year comes to a close, and this may be prompted by Mercury retrograde in your work sector the second half of November making you have less patience for work you don't enjoy. Mars is in your work sector late January to mid-March, so you can focus some more on work earlier in the year, and can be a lot more productive.

A lunar eclipse occurs January 31st in your money sector, and you can work to eliminate financial issues and see rewards for smart financial decisions and responsibility. A solar eclipse occurs August 11th in your money sector, and this can be a good time to focus on new financial opportunities, but with Mercury retrograde in your money sector late July to mid-August, you may want to focus on giving old money opportunities a try.

Home & Family:

Venus is retrograde in your home and family sector the first half of November, and you can struggle to have patience with your family, lack love for your family or home, and may want more of the attention, comfort, and support. Try to go easier on your family, and make improvements to your home. It can be a great time for redecorating, and you can spruce your place up. It can also be good for reconnecting with your family if you haven't seen them in a long time.

If you have children, Jupiter is in the sector ruling children to early November, and you can work to improve your relationship with them, and enjoy more time with them. Mars is in this sector in January, and this is when you can give the most attention. But Venus is retrograde in this sector in October, and they may be unruly and difficult to manage, and Mercury retrogrades in this sector the first week of December, and communication may be difficult. Listen to them more.

Mental State:

Neptune remains all year in one of the sectors ruling your mind, helping you to have a more active imagination and fantasize more. You can benefit from travel, and this can open you up even more. Mars is in this sector mid-November to the end of the year, so you may want some more space for the holidays, and can focus on learning new things, going to school or starting a course, wanting to understand more about the world, or getting out and having new experiences for you to learn from and grow.

General:

A solar eclipse occurs in your sign on July 12th, and this can be a great time to focus on new beginnings, new opportunities, the possibilities, and what you want to get started with. You can embark on a new journey in life, and you can be excited and enthusiastic about what you're working on. You can focus on your own wants and needs, and work on pursuing what you're most passionate about, and have the courage to take the first step.

Uranus is in your friendship and dreams sector mid-May through early November, and this is the start of this transit which will last until 2026. This is the sector Uranus naturally rules, so you can be more at home with change, going outside of your comfort zone, being independent, meeting new people, expanding your social circle, and focusing on your dreams for your future.

Month-by-Month Mini Horoscopes:

January: Make more time for your hobbies, the things you love to do, and the people who remind you to have fun this month. You may not want to focus on the mundane and serious, and instead want to enjoy yourself, kick back, and let loose a little, not stressing out about the small stuff so much and lazing the day away.

February: You can be much more productive this month, and get a lot of the little things done and out of the way, as well as bring more structure and order into your life. This may be a response to feeling unsettled emotionally after having to control an issue you hold deep inside of yourself, but it needs to be done so you can move on.

March: You can work to get as much work done as you can early in the month, and feel that you're losing your direction later in the month, uncertain of the path to take. Work on getting better balanced and surrounding yourself with peace and tranquility. This can help you to figure out the right thing to do.

April: Your relationships may need more attention this month, and it can come to the detriment of your goals. You just may not have the time for your goals as you give more of your time and attention to other people, and you can come back to your goals later, once you've helped out as much as you can.

May: You can work to figure out everything you need to about something later in the month, and become more invested and passionate as the month goes on, wanting to find out as much as you can. This might consume a lot of your focus later in the month, and you can keep searching.

June: Your mood may darken this month, and any hidden rage, hostility, resentment, and fear can come roaring out. Instead of trying to hide it, find a healthy way to let it out. An outlet for your emotions can be very helpful this month, and you may want to use up a lot of energy so you have less to fuel anger.

July: You can feel like you're on the right path this month, and work on your plans to set yourself up moving forward to pursue new opportunities and make the most of them. You may get a little lazy later in the month, or a little stubborn, so work on being more open and movable, and don't get caught up in something.

August: You can focus on ways to bring more stability and security into your life this month, especially after feeling like that was shaky as the month begins. You can work on being better balanced as the month goes on, and you can crave more peace in your life to help make you feel more secure.

September: Hard work and smart choices can pay off with the full moon in September that occurs in your career and goals sector, and you can make progress, hit your stride, hit a high point, or experience success. If there are setbacks and delays instead, this tells you that you need to make adjustments.

October: You may expect more from others than they can give this month, and this can cause problems in your relationships, so work to be more realistic with others, and to do more for yourself so you're not so demanding. It's good to want to be closer, but you can go too far and cling.

November: The little things may pile up this month, and you may take on more work than you can actually do, so work on streamlining your schedule so you're not feeling overwhelmed. If you do feel stressed, work to have an outlet for it, otherwise you can go wild, especially emotionally, feeling shaky and uncomfortable.

December: Giving yourself some space can be a good thing as the year is coming to a close, and you can focus on travel, seeing the world, going places you haven't before, learning, opening your mind, and having new experiences that excite you and make you think about life in a different way.
