Leo 2018 Yearly Horoscopes	61

January 1st - 7th 2018

On Monday, a full moon occurs in Cancer, so the new year kicks off with some strong energy that allows you to focus on eliminating what's holding you back, letting go of baggage, sorting out some karma, or getting out of your own way. You may start the year and week feeling more emotional and unsettled, but clearing the way can help you go into the year feeling lighter and ready to go. On Tuesday, Uranus ends his retrograde (appears to move backward) in Aries, and you may have struggled with changes that expanded your life or helped you to have new experiences over the last few months, but can now work on making those kinds of changes going forward, opening you up to new possibilities. You may need some time to yourself and some extra rest as the week begins, but can come out of your shell midweek with the Moon in your sign. Take the time to work on new projects, get some of your new goals started, and use your energy to your advantage. Later in the week, you can feel more confident and secure, and you may end the week with new ideas and new plans.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday, Thursday

January 8th - 14th 2018

Your mind can be more active to start the week, Leo, and you can come up with lots of new ideas and focus on information you need to gather or people you can talk to for advice. Your mind can become interested in a variety of things, and you can enjoy using your mind, but may need to make sure you're keeping yourself busy with plenty to do so you can use up all of this extra mental energy. On Monday, your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Jupiter, and you can think big or work on plans for expansion and exploration. Later in the week, you can focus more on what you're feeling, whether it's about a certain person or a certain situation. You can tend to your emotional needs, and work on strengthening yourself internally. On Thursday, Mercury enters Capricorn and your work sector, so you can pay closer attention to details over the coming weeks. You can have better focus on smaller projects, tasks, and chores, and you can stick to your routine or schedule. You can put aside more serious stuff over the weekend and focus on what you enjoy, wanting to tend to your heart. You can be more affectionate and expressive of how you feel with others, and can feel more romantic. The Sun harshly hits Uranus on Sunday, and you may stick to what you know best, not wanting to rock the boat for now.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Friday, Saturday

January 15th - 21st 2018

Your productive side can kick on to start this week with a new moon on Tuesday in Capricorn and your work sector. You can focus on what you want to get working on, and get work projects, tasks, and chores done, and feel more productive and efficient with your time and energy. You can focus on new work projects, new job opportunities, and new routines and schedules, and you can work to improve your lifestyle to make yourself healthier. Later in the week, you can make your relationships more of a priority, especially with Venus entering Aquarius and your relationship sector on Wednesday, and the Sun entering Aquarius on Friday. You can give more time and attention to other people, and you can play mediator, negotiator, and compromiser. You can be more fair-minded and charming, and you can work to get along better with others. Over the weekend, you can become intensely interested in something, wanting to learn as much as you possibly can, and you can focus on it until you feel you've found all that you can. You can also work on a transformation, or share with others.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday

January 22nd - 28th 2018

You can open yourself up to the possibilities as the week begins, and you can look at the bright side so much that you end up opening up windows and doors of opportunity for yourself. You can be excited and willing to pursue new adventures. Later in the week, you can work on practical plans for getting things done, and focus on the direction your life is going in. Are you on the path you want to be on, and if the answer is no, how can you change that? On Friday, Mars enters Sagittarius and your love sector, and over the coming weeks, you can feel more romantic, affectionate, and generous. If single, you can enjoy dating and the lighter side of love, while if attached, you can enjoy making it feel like it did when you first met. You can also feel more creative and focus on creative pursuits. Over the weekend, you can spend time with friends or in a group, feeling more connected to them and wanting to feel like you have a place among your peers.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Tuesday

January 29th - February 4th 2018

Wednesday can be an interesting day as Mercury enters Aquarius and your relationship sector, and a lunar eclipse occurs in your sign, Leo. With Mercury, you can do your best thinking with a partner to bounce ideas off of or when you feel balanced and peaceful over the coming weeks. You can make compromises, negotiate, and mediate, and see both sides to situations. You may be more charming in your communications. With the lunar eclipse, you can be more open with what you're working on and feeling, and your emotions can be heightened. You may see rewards and progress for the things you've done right, and experience setbacks or delays with the things you need to change your approach with or aren't truly invested in. It can be a good time to take stock of what you really want to be doing in your life, and what matters to you. You may start the week needing some time to rest, and get energy back midweek with the Moon in your sign. Later in the week, you can get more grounded and centered, and you may end the week with lots of new ideas, being more engaging, and keeping yourself busy to use up your mental energy.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday, Thursday

February 5th - 11th 2018

The mental energy you have can be strong as the week begins, and you can focus on trying to make use of the ideas that come to you, the plans you're working on, and the information you gather. You can get or give advice, and sort through your ideas to focus on the ones you can take action with. Midweek, you can work on starting something from the ground up that reaches a height in about two weeks, or work on strengthening the foundation of something. Later in the week, you can loosen up and lighten your mood, wanting to focus on what you enjoy most or be with the people who remind you to have fun in your life in healthy and positive ways. On Saturday, your ruler, the Sun, harshly hits Jupiter, and you can be lazier, indulgent, or prone to excess, and may just want a break. Also on Saturday, Venus enters Pisces, and you can enjoy transforming for the better, doing research, and getting to the heart of matters over the coming weeks. In love, you can be more intense and passionate, and if in a relationship, you can work on strengthening the emotional bonds you have with your partner. If single, you may want it to be serious and intense right from the start. You may end the week working hard and getting organized.

Best days of the week for Leo: Thursday, Friday

February 12th - 18th 2018

This week comes with a solar eclipse in Aquarius and your relationship sector on Thursday. You may have good energy for focusing on your relationships and partnerships, meeting new people and entering into new relationships and partnerships, making compromises and commitments, negotiating, mediating, or striking a balance in your life. On Saturday, Mercury enters Pisces, and the Sun enters Pisces on Sunday. Over the coming weeks, you can do your best thinking and feel most like yourself when you are handling serious matters, figuring out solutions to problems, doing research, taking a serious approach to life, working on transformations for the better, or focusing on mutually beneficial projects. Your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Uranus on Tuesday, and you can venture outside of your comfort zone and think outside of the box. The Sun aligns with Mercury on Saturday, and you can come up with new ideas and be more engaging. You may start the week feeling more productive, spend time with others midweek, and do research later in the week. You may end the week feeling expansive, open to new experiences, or wanting to explore.

Best days of the week for Leo: Tuesday, Saturday, Sunday

February 19th - 25th 2018

Plans for expansion, exploration, and new experiences can be your focus as the week begins, and you can feel more optimistic about your opportunities and what is possible in your life. You can be open to adventure, and feel bolder and more daring. You can spend time learning, teaching, writing, or speaking. Midweek, you can focus on your long-term plans and the goals that you hope to achieve in your life. You can be more practical with your approach, and realistic about what you can achieve. You can delegate tasks if you need to, and work on making the kinds of connections with people who will help you get closer to success. Later in the week, you can expand your social circle and be open to people that you normally wouldn't. They can challenge your view of life, and open you up to new perspectives. You can be more objective, and understand other views. Your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Saturn on Sunday, and you can get attention and feel more at ease with your wants and needs. You may end of the week needing time for rest, or wanting to get away from the demanding people in your life.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Tuesday, Sunday

February 26th - March 4th 2018

On Thursday, a full moon occurs in Virgo and your money sector, and you can use the energy to settle financial issues, finalize financial plans, eliminate blocks to stability and security, and tackle issues that impact your confidence levels. You may pay too much attention to what other people think and say about you, and may need to tune them out and pay more attention to what you think about yourself. Your ruler, the Sun, aligns with Neptune on Sunday, and you can be more compassionate, imaginative, intuitive, and sweet. The start the week, you may want more time to yourself to get some rest or recharge your energy levels if you've been pushing yourself a lot lately or have felt more emotional. The Moon is in your sign midweek, and you can have more energy and drive then, and focus on what you want to get started with that can be your focus for the next month. Pick what you feel excited about most and have already done your homework with, and get going. Later in the week, you can stick with what you start and get some of the grunt work out of the way. Over the weekend, you can be more engaging and come up with exciting new ideas and plans to work on, and focus on finding any information you may need.

Best days of the week for Leo: Tuesday, Wednesday, Sunday

March 5th - 11th 2018

Mercury moves into Aries on Tuesday, and Venus also enters Aries on Wednesday, and you can enjoy focusing on your big ideas and big plans over the coming weeks. You can work on plans to expand your life in new ways, explore places you haven't been to before, or having new experiences that open your mind and allow you to learn about things you haven't learned before. You can also share your vast knowledge with others, and feel more gregarious and optimistic. Your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Pluto on Sunday, and you can feel more powerful, magnetic, and mysterious. You may start the week wanting to segway from focus on the mind to focus on the heart, and you can tend to your emotional needs to get out of your own head. You can work to feel, to understand your emotions, and to connect with others emotionally. You can tend to matters of the heart later in the week, and focus on being more positive and joyful, in tune with your inner child and letting yourself play. Over the weekend, you can make time for the things that absolutely have to get done, the tasks and chores you didn't want to deal with during the week, and can be as productive as possible with your time and energy.

Best days of the week for Leo: Thursday, Friday, Sunday

March 12th - 17th 2018

The people in your life may demand more attention from you during the first half of the week, and you can make your relationships a priority. You can focus on the relationships you haven't had time for lately, and can feel better emotionally with others. You can work on your emotional bonds with the people you care about later in the week. You can share more with others and want to understand them better as well. Your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Jupiter on Tuesday, and you can be more positive and optimistic. On Saturday, a new moon occurs in Pisces, and you can pursue opportunities to transform your life in new and positive ways, to do research and investigation, to solve serious matters, and to share. You may also pursue something that is mutually beneficial. Mars enters Capricorn and your work sector on Saturday as well, and over the coming weeks, you can focus more on the work that needs to be done, smaller projects, tasks, and chores, and may feel that the more you do finish, the more energy you have to get more done. You can push yourself hard, so try not to take on too much and cause unnecessary stress. You can streamline your daily life and make the most of your routine and schedule. This can be a focus for you over the coming months and you can work on being more productive and efficient this year. You may end the week taking a break and being more positive.

Best days of the week for Leo: Tuesday, Sunday

March 19th - 25th 2018

To kick the week off, there can be some issues when it comes to your big ideas, plans for expansion, or your outlook on life, and you may feel a little uneasy. On Tuesday, the Sun enters Aries, and over the coming weeks, you can focus more on expansion, exploration, and new experiences, or perhaps the lack of them. This may be because Mercury turns retrograde (appears to move backward) in Aries on Thursday, which can present challenges over the coming weeks. You may struggle with having the space you want, feel stifled or held back, and can think a little too big or be too unrealistic. It can be a good time for focusing on an old big idea or working to expand your life within your limitations. Your ruler, the Sun, harshly hits Mars on Saturday, and you can be extra irritated, grumpy, and frustrated, so try to have an outlet for the energy. Midweek, you can work on your long-term plans to stay on track, think more about the future later in the week, and spend the weekend wanting some solitude and quiet so you can calm your spirit.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday

March 26th - April 1st 2018

The Moon enters your sign on Monday, Leo, and you can focus on yourself and your own wants and needs as the week begins. You may feel that you need more attention right now given the difficult energy you trying to manage. Later in the week, you can work to bring more stability and security to your life. Your ruler, the Sun, harshly hits Saturn on Thursday, and you may avoid responsibilities or lack discipline. Saturday is the big day for the week with Venus entering Taurus and your career and life path sector, and a full moon in Libra. With Venus entering Taurus, you may enjoy focusing more on your goals, feel more ambitious, and try making good Impressions on the right people over the coming weeks. With the full moon in Libra, you can find it easier to express yourself emotionally and share what's on your mind with others. You may understand what people mean regardless of what they actually say, and you can feel more connected to your ideas and opinions. This may especially be true over the weekend, and you can say what you need to say and work on your communications. On Sunday, the Sun aligns with Mercury, and you can find new ways of expressing yourself to end the week.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Tuesday, Sunday

April 2nd - 8th 2018

The foundation of something in your life or of your life itself may seem shaky as the week begins, and you may need to work on trying to figure out why that is. It may not seem apparent at first, and require that you do some searching and really pay attention. Once you figure it out, you can work to strengthen the foundation enough so that it doesn't feel shaky like that again anytime soon. Later in the week, you can work to feel better about life in general, and the more you connect to your heart, your inner child, and your playful side, the more than can be the case. You can make more time to do the things you love in healthy and positive ways, and this can make you more cheerful, which can in turn rub off on the people in your life, and make people want to be around you and give you more attention. Over the weekend, you can feel that managing your stress and improving your overall well-being is more important to you, and you can work on integrating new ways to improve your stress levels and adjust your routine and schedule so you're not feeling as time-crunched and can focus on overall improvement.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday, Thursday

April 9th - 15th 2018

The week can start with you wanting more time with the people in your life, or giving more time to relationships that require it. You can do more for others, and feel better with company. Later in the week, you can focus on transforming for the better, and your mood may be more serious and intense. That may change over the weekend with a new moon in Aries and Mercury ending his retrograde (appearing to move backward) in Aries on Sunday. Over the last few weeks, you may have had a hard time expanding your life, getting the space you want, or seeing the possibilities, but with the retrograde ending and a new moon in Aries, you can restore optimism, focus on opportunities for expansion and exploration, and have an easier time pursuing opportunities. Even if it takes another week or two before you feel ready to take action, you can feel more confident and steady, and more hopeful about the way life can proceed coming out of the retrograde, and this can help you to take steps when you're ready to do so.

Best days of the week for Leo: Saturday, Sunday

April 16th - 22nd 2018

Your focus can be disciplined and you can work hard for what you want as the week begins, and you can make progress with a goal, hit your stride, hit a high point, or feel that you're on the right path. Midweek, you can focus more on your future, and can make sure the path you're on leads to your ultimate dreams in life. Your ruler, the Sun, aligns with Uranus on Wednesday, and you can be open to changes and more independent. Later in the week, you can spend time in the background and prefer being out of the spotlight. The Sun enters Taurus and your career and life path sector on Thursday, and over the coming weeks, you may feel most like yourself when you're making progress with your goals, hitting your stride, achieving success, getting recognition or praise, making connections with important people, or are treated with more respect. The week comes to an end with the Moon moving into your sign, Leo, and you can start to step out of the shadows, get more attention, and work to pursue opportunities.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday, Sunday

April 23rd - 29th 2018

The week starts with the Moon in your sign, Leo, and you can have more energy and drive for what you want to be doing, what you're excited and enthusiastic about, and what you want to get started with. On Tuesday, Venus enters Gemini, and over the coming weeks, you may enjoy making changes, being independent, going outside of your comfort zone, doing things in new ways, meeting new people and expanding your social circle, and spending more time with friends or in groups. Midweek, you can feel more confident and secure, and can bring more stability and grounded energy into your life. Later in the week, you may have lots on your mind, new ideas and plans to work on, and a new focus. Your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Saturn on Sunday, and you can be more disciplined and focused long-term. A full moon also occurs on Sunday in your home and family sector, and you can work on settling issues at home or with family, tending to the foundation of something, see something bottom out in your life, or work to clear out issues at the core of something or yourself.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Tuesday

April 30th - May 6th 2018

Matters at home or with family can be your main focus as the week begins, and you can work on tackling projects at home, improve your living situation, and make your home more comfortable for you emotionally. You may spend more time with your family, work out an issue with a relative, or give support to someone you care about. Midweek, you can be more positive and feel more inspired. You can focus on the good in your life, and want to share the good feelings you have with the people you care about. You can be more generous, loving, and affectionate. Later in the week, the little things that need to be done can take up your attention. You can work on getting as much out of the way as possible, and tackle the projects and chores you didn't have time for earlier in the week. You can feel more productive and try to make good use of that energy. This can continue through the weekend, but you can start to focus on your relationships to end the week. Your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Neptune on Sunday, and you can be more compassionate, caring, and imaginative.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday, Thursday, Sunday

May 7th - 13th 2018

You can spend time with the people you care about as the week begins, and may enjoy giving others attention. You can help the people in your life with what they're dealing with, and try to improve your connections with others. Your ruler, the Sun, opposes Jupiter, and you can be lazier and more indulgent. Midweek, you can focus on a serious matter, and try to get more information about it. You can get to the heart of it and work to find a solution. On Friday, the Sun positively hits Pluto, and you can feel more powerful and in control. Later in the week, you can work on plans for expansion, exploration, and new experiences. You can be optimistic, and feel more passionate about your beliefs. On Sunday, Mercury enters Taurus and your career and life path sector, and over the coming weeks, you can work on your long-term plans, think about your direction, work on your goals, take a more practical outlook, have a more disciplined mind, and can be more responsible.

Best days of the week for Leo: Friday, Saturday

May 14th - 20th 2018

There is a lot going on this week, starting with a new moon in Taurus and your career and life path sector on Tuesday, and Uranus entering Taurus the same day. With the new moon, you can set new goals, make progress with one or have success, make a good impression on the right person, hit your stride or hit a high point, and get on the right track. With Uranus, this is the start of this transit, and you can start making changes with your goals and ambitions over the coming months. On Wednesday, Mars enters Aquarius and your relationship sector, and you can spend more time with others, give more attention to the people you care about, improve relationships, meet new people, or try to be better balanced over the coming weeks. On Saturday, Venus enters Cancer, and over the coming weeks, you can enjoy being imaginative and intuitive, connecting to your soul, or clearing out your life. On Sunday, your ruler, the Sun, enters Gemini, and you can feel your best when you're open to change, spending time with friends, or being independent over the coming weeks. You may start the week working on your goals, make changes midweek, trust your gut later in the week, and with the week ending with the Moon in your sign, you can be energized and enthusiastic.

Best days of the week for Leo: Sunday

May 21st - 27th 2018

The week starts with the Moon in your sign, Leo, and this can be a good time for focusing on new beginnings, new opportunities, what excites you and drives you, and what you want to get going with now that you can focus on for the next month. You can do what it takes to take the first step and go down a new road. Midweek, you can stick to your decisions and feel confident in what you're doing, and in your abilities to get things done. On Wednesday, your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Mars, and you can continue to have energy, drive, enthusiasm, and can take initiative. Later in the week, you can work on your ideas, gather information that you need to be more informed, and work on the short-term plans that need to be tweaked. You can talk things over with the people in your life, and enjoy getting other opinions. Over the weekend, you can work on the foundation, strengthening the core, and trying to make sure that's solid so you don't have to worry about everything falling apart as you proceed.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Wednesday

May 28th - June 3rd 2018

Mercury enters Gemini on Tuesday, and a full moon occurs in Sagittarius and your love sector that same day. With Mercury entering Gemini, you can do your best thinking with friends, in a group, or when you're thinking outside of the box over the coming weeks. You can come up with unconventional ideas and think more about your future and the dreams that you have. With the full moon, you can focus on your love relationships, and work to resolve issues with your loved ones. You can become more passionate about the things that you love to do, become more invested in your hobbies, or give one up that you no longer care for. You can be more generous, inspired, and may want more attention. You may start the week wanting more emotional support, and tending to your emotional needs. Midweek, you can get in touch with your heart, and focus on the positives in your life. Later in the week, you can work on the smaller tasks and chores that need to be finished. You can be more productive and efficient with your time and energy, and the more you do, the more energy you feel you have to get more done. You may end the week spending time with the people in your life, and may strive to improve your relationships.

Best days of the week for Leo: Tuesday, Wednesday

June 4th - 10th 2018

The people in your life and your relationships can get your focus to start the week, and you can give more attention to the relationships that need more work, and spend more time with the people you care about most who need your help. You may be more compromising and fair, and try to see their side in situations. Your ruler, the Sun, aligns with Mercury on Tuesday, and you can come up with new ideas, and be more active and engaging. Midweek, you can grow closer emotionally with your loved ones, wanting to strengthen emotional bonds in your relationships and get to the point where they feel strong enough to withstand anything. You can be more serious and passionate, intense and focused. Later in the week, you can take a step back and give yourself some space to be bold, pursue an adventure, or take a chance on yourself. You can think big, dream big, and focus on the good in your life. You may end the week being more practical and working on long-term plans for your goals.

Best days of the week for Leo: Tuesday, Friday, Saturday

June 11th - 17th 2018

There is plenty going on this week, starting with Mercury entering Cancer on Tuesday. Over the coming weeks, you can do your best thinking on your own, away from demanding people, and may find them to be mentally draining. Your imagination can be active, and you can think more about the past. On Wednesday, Venus enters your sign, Leo, and over the coming weeks, you can enjoy getting attention from loved ones, can come across as more attractive and charming, and can get grounded. A new moon occurs in Gemini on Wednesday as well, and you can pursue opportunities to get closer to your dreams, expand your social circle, do something in a group, join a new group, take up a cause, or be more independent. You may start the week wanting to make strides with one of your goals, and open to changes to do that midweek. Later in the week, you can be more compassionate and intuitive, spiritual and sensitive. The Moon is in your sign over the weekend, and you can focus on something new that excites you, and let yourself get attention.

Best days of the week for Leo: Saturday, Sunday

June 18th - 24th 2018

You may take your time with actions and decisions as the week begins, wanting to be certain of yourself first. Once you do, you can stick to your choices and continue forward to the end. Later in the week, you can gather information and get advice from people in your life, and share what you're thinking and working on. You may create short-term plans for your ideas, and make adjustments to existing plans. You can be more engaging and keep yourself busy, wanting to use up your extra mental energy. On Thursday, your ruler, the Sun, enters Cancer, and over the coming weeks, you may feel most like yourself when you are in the background and out of the spotlight, working on things behind the scenes, pursuing opportunities that you can do on your own, using your imagination, being compassionate and understanding, getting in tune with your spiritual self, or strengthening your intuition. Over the weekend, you may spend time with the people who make you feel emotionally secure, and stick to what you know best.

Best days of the week for Leo: Tuesday

June 25th - July 1st 2018

Mars turns retrograde (appears to move backward) on Tuesday in Aquarius and your relationship sector. Mars is retrograde in Aquarius until August, and this may impact your relationships and connections with others. You may get into more fights, have a hard time seeing eye-to-eye, and need to be more understanding. You may feel out of balance, and this can make you more frustrated, so try to keep yourself as balanced as you can, and have a peaceful retreat somewhere. A full moon occurs in Capricorn and your work sector on Thursday, and this full moon can increase emotions with the retrograde, and you may get more easily stressed out, so try not to take too much on and manage your stress better. Mercury enters your sign, Leo, on Friday, and you can be more open with what's on your mind over the coming weeks. Your ruler, the Sun, opposes Saturn on Wednesday, and you may avoid responsibility and lack discipline. As the week begins, you may focus on being more playful, and then try to get some things done later in the week. Over the weekend, you can work on balance and try to be more thoughtful with others.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday

July 2nd - 8th 2018

You may be focused on your relationships to start the week, and can quickly work on trying to strengthen the emotional bonds you have with loved ones. You can work on growing closer, and the stronger you feel the bonds are, the better you can feel. Try not to get too clingy or suffocating though. Later in the week, you can step back and give them some space, and take some space for yourself to focus on the positives and not be so wrapped up in everything. Your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Jupiter on Thursday, and you can be more expansive, bold, and optimistic. The Sun positively hits Neptune on Sunday, and you can be imaginative, compassionate, sensitive, and intuitive. Over the weekend, you can focus on trying to hit a high point with something you care about, even if it's small, so you can feel like you're at least on the right path and going in the right direction, even in the midst of the wacky energy that's dominating right now.

Best days of the week for Leo: Thursday, Friday, Sunday

July 9th - 15th 2018

Venus enters Virgo and your money sector on Monday, and over the coming weeks, you may enjoy splurging more, indulging more, getting in touch with your senses, connecting with others physically, and improving your financial situation. On Friday, a solar eclipse occurs in Cancer, and you can focus on opportunities that keep you in the background and behind the scenes, or that allow you to let go of stuff from the past and move on from baggage. You can clear out clutter in your life, and it can be less of an emotional experience. Your ruler, the Sun, opposes Pluto on Thursday, and you may struggle for power and control of something. You may start the week stepping outside of your comfort zone and trying things out in new ways, and midweek, you can be more introspective and want some quiet time to yourself to get some rest and let your imagination run wild. Later in the week, you can make yourself more of a priority, tending to your own needs, and you may end the week indulging and trying to relax.

Best days of the week for Leo: Saturday

July 16th - 22nd 2018

You may start the week focused on financial matters and working to improve your financial situation. You may pursue financial opportunities, improve your budget, make financial arrangements, or research financial information. You may also work to be more grounded, confident, or sensual. Midweek, you can gather more information, get or give advice, freely share what's on your mind, and strive to make good use of your mental energy. You may want to keep busy and fill up your calendar with plenty to do. Later in the week, you may stick to what you know best, wanting comfort and familiarity. You may focus on something from the ground up, or get to the roots of something. You can make time for fun and playfulness as the week comes to an end. On Sunday, your ruler, the Sun, enters your sign, Leo, and over the coming weeks, you may feel most like yourself when you are getting attention, being in the spotlight, focusing on your own wants and needs, pursuing new opportunities or new beginnings, and are being more positive.

Best days of the week for Leo: Sunday

July 23rd - 29th 2018

This may be a week of challenging energy for everyone as Mercury turns retrograde (appearing to move backward), in your sign, Leo, on Thursday, and a lunar eclipse occurs on Friday in Aquarius, the sign opposite yours, and your relationship sector. So the energy is especially a challenge for you! You may struggle with lots of little things not going quite right, being extra impatient or stressed, and needing to redo things all over again over the coming weeks with the retrograde, and you may take this out on the people in your life, feel that it's happening because of other people, or let your relationships be impacted by the stress you feel as a result. More than likely, you're feeling out of balance, and need to work on restoring that. Once you feel better balanced, you can take a better approach to dealing with issues you have to manage, and treat other people better. Try to recognize if you're taking something out on someone who isn't really to blame, or getting upset over something when you're actually upset about something else. Your ruler, the Sun, harshly hits Uranus on Wednesday, and you can feel rebellious, restless, avoid change or are a little erratic so try to ground yourself. You may start the week feeling creative and using that as an outlet, and get down to work later in the week. You can spend time with your loved ones over the weekend, and can focus on being more connected and committed.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Tuesday

July 30th - August 5th 2018

If you need to get to the heart of a matter, you can have an easier time doing so to start the week with greater focus and intensity. You can get wrapped up in whatever is of interest to you, and keep digging until you get to the core. This can help you uncover information you need to figure out the right course of action with an issue or problem you may be dealing with, and move forward from it. Later in the week, you can believe in your ability to get things done, to take action, to choose the right option, and to pursue the right path. You can feel better about life, and may give yourself some space to work on things. You can feel better emotionally when you get some space, especially if you feel more emotional earlier in the week. Over the weekend, you can focus on your goals and ambitions, and work hard to hit your stride, hit a high point, or make some progress to keep you moving forward and show you're going in the right direction. If you're uncertain of your path, you can make slight changes and see if you need to adjust further as you go along.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday, Thursday, Friday

August 6th - 12th 2018

To start this very active week, Venus enters Libra on Monday. Over the coming weeks, you can enjoy using your mind, coming up with new ideas and new plans, connecting with others mentally, and being more engaging. Your ruler, the Sun, harshly hits Jupiter on Monday as well, and you may be lazier and more indulgent. The Sun aligns with Mercury on Wednesday, and you may think about things in a different way. On Saturday, a solar eclipse occurs in your sign, Leo, and this can help you focus on the new beginnings, opportunities, and ventures that you want to pursue. You may not have the opportunity to do so right now, but you can get yourself ready for when the energy is better. On Sunday, Mars retrogrades (appears to move backwards) into Capricorn and your work sector. You may experience struggles with your work life, daily life, and health, and may be more stressed out. Give yourself plenty of time to get things done, try not to demand too much of yourself or others, and have a healthy outlet for stress. You may start the week open to change, and have a more active imagination midweek. The Moon is in your sign later in the week, and you can have more energy and enthusiasm. You may end the week taking time to enjoy the moment and slow life down.

Best days of the week for Leo: Friday, Saturday

August 13th - 19th 2018

You can feel better when you are grounded, stable, and secure as the week begins, and can take your time with important decisions. You may strive to be more confident and secure in yourself. Midweek, you can use your mind, and focus on mentally challenging projects. You can come up with new ideas, and work on new plans. Later in the week, you can address your emotional needs. You may spend more time at home or in the places you know best, or with family or with the people who support you. You may end the week goofing off, being silly, and connecting with your heart. On Sunday, Mercury and his retrograde (appearing to move backwards) in your sign, Leo, where he has been retrograde for the last few weeks. You've likely been feeling completely and totally off, and have had to deal with a host of issues. Now that the retrograde is coming to an end, you can work on getting back on track. You can feel more like yourself again, and focus on the things that have gone wrong lately. Give yourself a little more time to fully sort through everything you need to.

Best days of the week for Leo: Sunday

August 20th - 26th 2018

On Thursday, your ruler, the Sun, enters Virgo and your money sector, and over the coming weeks, you can feel most like yourself when you're bringing stability and security into your life, getting grounded and staying calm, and pursuing financial opportunities. A full moon occurs in Pisces on Sunday, and this can be a serious full moon than amplifies your emotions as you have to focus on serious matters or something you hold deep inside of yourself and need to address now. You may be a little moodier, but transforming can help. The Sun positively hits Uranus and Saturn on Saturday, and you can balance a traditional approach with unconventional ideas, and feel more true to yourself and disciplined and focused. You may start the week bringing creative energy to everything you do so you can stay focused, and want to be more hard-working, detailed, and pay closer attention to the little things midweek. Later in the week, you can make compromises, mediate, and negotiate, and find middle ground for everyone to meet on. You may end the week doing research and being serious.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday

August 27th - September 2nd 2018

Mars ends his retrograde (appearing to move backward) on Monday, a retrograde we've all be dealing with for the last couple of months, and one that started in Aquarius and now ends in Capricorn. This retrograde has likely been impacting both your relationships and work life, hammering you on both ends and bringing about lots of issues, big and small. With the retrograde ending, you can work on getting back on track in both areas of life, but it may take a little time before you really feel it and see results, so have some patience. For this week, you may start the week trying to get to the heart of a matter and doing so research and investigation, and come up with big ideas and work on big plans midweek. Later in the week, you can take on a responsibility or take the lead, hit a high point or hit your stride, or experience a setback and make some adjustments. You may end the week spending time focused on your dreams for your future, wanting to feel as though you still have a chance, and working on opening up new opportunities for you to pursue over time.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday, Thursday

September 3rd - 9th 2018

On Sunday, a new moon occurs in your money sector, and you can pursue new financial opportunities, find ways to make more money or to improve the stability and security in your life, and feel more confident. Venus moves into Scorpio and your home and family sector on Sunday, and you can enjoy spending time at home or improving your living situation, spending time with family or the people who support you, and connecting with others emotionally over the coming weeks. Your ruler, the Sun, opposes Neptune on Friday, and you can get lost in daydreams and fantasies. You may start the week open to making a change, being independent, or going outside of your comfort zone, and have an active imagination and stronger intuition midweek. The Moon is in your sign later in the week, and you can get started with a new beginning, and feel excited and enthusiastic. Over the weekend, you can be more indulgent, want time to enjoy the moment, and try to get more grounded.

Best days of the week for Leo: Thursday, Friday

September 10th - 16th 2018

On Monday, Mars enters Aquarius and your relationship sector, so you can have more energy and drive for your relationships and the people in your life over the coming weeks. Things may have gone sideways in the last few months, but now you can give the time and attention you need to. You can feel more energized with a partner, and work to be more compromising, fair, and charming. You can also work to bring better balance into your life. Your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Jupiter and Pluto on Tuesday, and you can come up with big ideas, look at the bright side, do research, and find personal power. You can come up with new ideas and work on your short-term plans earlier in the week, and be more engaging and open. Later in the week, you can tend to matters at home or with family, and be more supportive, nurturing, and strengthen yourself internally and emotionally. Over the weekend, you can put work and duty aside to spend time doing what you enjoy most in healthy and positive ways, spending time with the people you love, and connecting to your heart.

Best days of the week for Leo: Tuesday, Saturday, Sunday

September 17th - 23rd 2018

The time for work comes as the week begins for you, and you can focus on the work you need to get done. You can use productive energy well, and make the most of your time and resources. You can get lots of little tasks and chores finished up, and break larger projects down into smaller ones to be tackled. You can get lots done and feel you have more energy to do even more, but try not to run yourself down during the first half of the week. Later in the week, you can turn your attention toward the people in your life and toward restoring some semblance of balance. The areas you haven't had time for can raise in prominence for you, and you can tend to them now. The relationships you've been needing to put work in on can demand your attention, and the people in your life you care about may need some help. You can feel good emotionally when you're being helpful and being there for them. On Thursday, your ruler, the Sun, aligns with Mercury, and you can be more engaging with others and have a more active mind. On Friday, Mercury enters Libra, and the Sun joins Mercury on Saturday, so over the coming weeks, you can focus more on your ideas and short-term plans. You can have plenty of mental energy and want to pursue your ideas, and can feel most like yourself when you're challenging your mind. You can be more open with your ideas and plans, and may come across as more curious, sociable, or talkative. Over the weekend, you can you can work on a serious matter or try to get to the core of something or someone.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Thursday

September 24th - 30th 2018

You can work on a transformation for the better as the week begins, and this may be with some aspect of your life or of yourself. You can tackle the transformation now with energy and enthusiasm, and make some progress with it quickly, but you may not have the opportunity to focus on it for too long, so make the most of the time you have while you can. On Tuesday, your ruler, the Sun, harshly hits Saturn, and you may want to avoid responsibility or are overly cautious about something. Midweek, you can feel a bit lighter and focus on the good in your life. You can be more optimistic, and you can give more attention to expansion, exploration, and new experiences. You can share your good feelings with others, and feel more gregarious. Later in the week, you can work to hit your stride or hit a high point with something you've been working long and hard at and been responsible with, and you can make progress or feel good about the path you're taking. The Sun positively hits Mars on Thursday, and you can be driven and excited. Over the weekend, you can spend time with friends or expand your social circle, and be open to something new and different.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday, Thursday

October 1st - 7th 2018

On Friday, Venus turns retrograde (appears to move backward) in Scorpio and your home and family sector, where she will retrograde for the rest of October. This retrograde may impact your home and family life, and you may have little things pop up at home, stuff that needs to be fixed, or issues with family that need to be addressed. You may be lazier and more indulgent when you feel emotionally distressed, and may require more support emotionally. You may feel that something in your life hits bottom, and you have to work to strengthen the foundation of your life and self. It can be a good time to improve your home or living situation, or reconnect with family or supportive people. You may start the week open to some changes, and spend more time on your own midweek, needing time to rest. Energy may return later in the week, and you can focus on starting something new you can finish quickly. Over the weekend, you can work on gaining more confidence and grounding yourself so you don't feel so emotional and can handle more of the challenges.

Best days of the week for Leo: Thursday, Friday

October 8th - 14th 2018

Mental energy can be strong to start the week, and you can focus on your ideas, your plans, and work on your schedule. A new moon occurs in Libra on Monday, and you can fill up your schedule to use up your mental energy, be more engaging, and pursue plans for new ideas. You can be more positive, and try to use your mind more. On Tuesday, Mercury enters Scorpio and your home and family sector, and you can focus on merging your head and your heart, as well as the issues brought up by Venus retrograde in this sign over the coming weeks. It may be difficult for you to be objective, but you can attempt to be more clear in your communications about your emotions, and more clear about what you need emotionally to be centered. This can especially be true later in the week, and you can crave comfort and familiarity and support from loved ones. Over the weekend, you can work on being more emotionally positive, and try to focus on connecting more to your joyful side. You can spend time doing fun things in healthy ways, and being with the people who make you feel good about life.

Best days of the week for Leo: Friday, Saturday, Sunday

October 15th - 21st 2018

Your work ethic can be pretty good to start the week, and you can focus on the smaller tasks and chores that require your attention. You can get organized to help yourself get more done, and break down larger projects into smaller ones so you don't get overwhelmed and get things done. You can tackle your long list of things to do, and try to get it a lot smaller so you don't have to worry about it later. Later in the week, you can turn your attention toward your loved ones and the people in your life. They may require more attention than you've been able to give them lately, or you may feel you need to balance things out by spending more time with them so your relationships stay healthy and balanced. You can be more charming, compromising, and want to keep the peace. Over the weekend, you can work on the emotional bonds you share with them, and want to feel as close to them as possible. You can strengthen these bonds, and feel that you can get through anything together as a result.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday, Thursday

October 22nd - 28th 2018

Your optimistic attitude to start the week can help you to see the bright side, even if things are looking pretty dull at the moment. You can help yourself to feel better about what you're working on, and keep yourself in a good mood no matter what. Your ruler, the Sun, opposes Uranus on Tuesday, and you may feel a little rebellious, anxious, or avoid change though. The Sun enters Scorpio and your home and family sector on Tuesday, and you may feel most like yourself when you're spending time in the places you know best, the places that feel like home, or with the people you view as family over the coming weeks. You can tend to emotional needs, get in touch with your emotional self, or work to strengthen your inner core. You can work on something from the ground up, or see something bottom out. You may come across as more nurturing, supportive, and sensitive, especially later in the week. A full moon occurs in Taurus and your goals and life path sector on Wednesday, and you can make progress with the goals you've done right by and been smart with, and experience setbacks or delays with the ones you don't care for, need to change your approach with, or have been reckless with. The Sun aligns with Venus on Friday, and you can enjoy company and be more charming, and then positively hits Saturn on Saturday, and you can be more disciplined. Over the weekend, you can spend time with friends or in a group, pursue a cause, or work on a dream for your future.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Friday, Saturday

October 29th - November 4th 2018

If you need some extra time to get some rest as the week starts, don't feel the need to push yourself too much. When you're rundown, take the time to recharge and then come back to the demands of life with a clearer head. The Moon is in your sign midweek, and this can be the time to work on new projects, plans, and ventures, and use the energy you have to your advantage. On Wednesday, Venus retrogrades (appears to move backward) into Libra, and you may struggle with communication and expression over the coming weeks. You may need to work harder to be a good listener and open up the lines of communication between you and others to avoid misunderstandings and fights. Mercury enters Sagittarius and your love sector on Wednesday as well, and you can focus on creative projects and ventures, inject creativity into everything you do, and express love and affection over the coming weeks. You may work to get more grounded later in the week, and bring some stability and security into areas of life that may feel chaotic or unstable. You may end the week focused on your ideas and working on Venus retrograde issues

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday

November 5th - 11th 2018

This week has some major astrological events, the first being Uranus retrograde (appearing to move backward) going from Taurus back to Aries. This is the last tour for Aries over the next few months with Uranus, so it's a time to tie up loose ends and finish what you've started, and for you, this might be with ways you've expanded your life, explored the world, opened your mind, and experienced life. On Wednesday, a new moon occurs in Scorpio and your home and family sector, so the week can bring good energy to tend to matters at home or with family, improve your living space or situation, strengthen the foundation of something, start a project from the bottom up, and feel better emotionally. Jupiter moves from Scorpio to Sagittarius on Thursday, where he'll spend the next year, and this is your love sector, so you can feel more loving and affectionate, generous and romantic, playful and joyful, sweet and fun-loving. You can pick up new hobbies, pursue opportunities to turn existing hobbies into something more, bring new love into your life, and pursue creative projects and ventures. This good energy may not kick in right away though, because Mercury will retrograde in Sagittarius starting next week, so we may not feel it until after the retrograde is over. On Sunday, your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Pluto, and you can feel more powerful, in control, and passionate. You may start the week with new ideas, and tend to your emotional needs midweek. You can have some fun later in the week, and get productive to end the week.

Best days of the week for Leo: Friday, Saturday, Sunday

November 12th - 18th 2018

There is a lot happening this week astrologically, starting with Mars entering Pisces on Thursday, and you can focus on new transformations for the better, address serious matters, or do needed research over the coming weeks. You can also pursue mutually beneficial projects and ventures, or work with a partner. On Friday, Venus ends her retrograde (appearing to move backward), moving forward again in Libra, and communication has likely been difficult over the last few weeks but can slowly start to improve going forward. But perhaps not completely as Mercury starts his retrograde on Friday in Sagittarius and your love sector, and you may continue to lack mental discipline and focus, make too much time for fun and avoid work, or have too much work to do and avoid fun. Try to find some balance between the two. You may start the week getting organized and working on your schedule, turn your attention toward your loved ones later in the week, and take time to address something you're holding deep inside over the weekend.

Best days of the week for Leo: Thursday

November 19th - 25th 2018

It's a big, wide world out there, and you can be open to exploring every inch of it as the week kicks off, and you can dream of faraway places, and crave more freedom to do whatever you want. You can feel more adventurous and open to the world. Midweek, you can think more about the direction your life is going in, and where you want to be ultimately. You can work on your long-term plans and take a practical approach. On Thursday, your ruler, the Sun, enters Sagittarius and your love sector, and over the coming weeks, you can be more creative, feel inspired, be more affectionate, and want more fun and romance. On Friday, a full moon occurs in the opposing sign, Gemini, and you can settle disputes with friends or groups, end a friendship or leave a group, see the culmination of change, or want more independence. You may focus more on how you're engaging in a personal and in a casual way. You may end the week taking time to be alone, wanting to rest and feeling rundown, or wanting to avoid the spotlight and have some peace and quiet.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Tuesday

November 26th - December 2nd 2018

Your imagination can run wild to kick the week off, and you can let your imagination roam, feeling good when you get lost in a daydream or fantasy. If you don't have the time to daydream, you may lack focus on the mundane, so try to give yourself moments to dream. Midweek, the Moon is in your sign, and you can focus on new beginnings and new opportunities with greater enthusiasm and excitement, but with Mercury retrograde (appearing to move backward), you may be better off holding off on getting started, or focusing on projects and ventures you can complete in a few days. Later in the week, you can feel more confident and secure, and work on bringing more stability into chaotic areas of life that need it. Mercury retrogrades into Scorpio and your home and family sector on Saturday, and over the next week, you may struggle with matters at home or with family, emotionally, or with the foundation of something, and you may feel like you hit bottom in some way or have to face something that impacts you at your core. Try to give yourself some comfort and support through it all. Over the weekend, you can focus on your ideas and plans, and feel more engaging with others. Your ruler, the Sun, harshly hits Mars on Sunday, and you may feel frustrated and annoyed, so work on having an outlet for the energy.

Best days of the week for Leo: Tuesday, Wednesday

December 3rd - 9th 2018

On Thursday, Mercury ends his retrograde (appears to move backward) in Scorpio, your home and family sector, and this can be a big focus for the week. Mercury has been retrograde in Scorpio since the 1st, and you've likely been experiencing some issues with matters at home or with family, and have felt unsettled emotionally or at your core. With the retrograde ending, you can start to feel more stable, and can strengthen yourself internally after another week or two. A new moon occurs in Sagittarius and your love sector on Friday, and this can be a great time for focusing on who and what you love. You can make more time for the things you love to do and the people you love to be with, reconnect with your heart, share your good feelings with others, and it can be a time for creative projects and new hobbies. Your ruler, the Sun, harshly hits Neptune on Wednesday though, and this might be a difficult time of the week as you struggle with feeling like your head's in a fog, have a hard time seeing the reality of a situation, or are taken advantage of. Work on guarding yourself better and being grounded. The week begins with the Moon in Libra, stimulating your mind and bringing new ideas and short-term plans, and midweek, you can turn inward and focus on your emotions. Later in the week, you can feel more creative and fun-loving, and over the weekend, you can work on tending to the tasks and chores that got left behind during the week.

Best days of the week for Leo: Thursday, Friday

December 10th - 16th 2018

While you may focus on trying to get the little things finished and out of the way to kick the week off, your attention can quickly turn toward others, the people you care about, and the people in your life in general. You can be more committed to them and give them more of the time and attention they need midweek, and can work on growing closer with them and having emotional bonds later in the week. If single, you may only want someone serious who can take commitment seriously, while if in a relationship, you can work to improve your connection and share more together. Mercury enters Sagittarius and your love sector on Wednesday, and you can be more open with the love you feel and more affectionate with loved ones over the coming weeks. You can also feel more creative, and it can be good for focusing on creative projects and ventures. If you're not a fan of what you're working on, you may lack focus and mental discipline. You may end the week feeling bolder and more daring, open to an adventure or two, at least in your mind, anyway. You can come up with big ideas for expanding your life, and believe in your abilities.

Best days of the week for Leo: Sunday

December 17th - 23rd 2018

Big ideas can come at you to start the week, and you can be excited by every last one of them. You can focus on the good in your life, and feel that you can do whatever you set your mind to. This can open you up to new opportunities you wouldn't otherwise entertain, and you can work on a solid long-term plan for your ideas midweek. You can take a more practical approach with your ideas, and you can work hard for what you want. Later in the week, you can reach out to people you know for assistance, expand your social circle, or work best with a group. On Thursday, your ruler, the Sun, positively hits Uranus, and you can step outside of your comfort zone to achieve what you want, and feel more independent. On Friday, the Sun enters Capricorn and your work sector, so you can focus more on smaller projects, tasks, and chores that need to be finished over the coming weeks. You can be more productive and efficient with your time and energy, and feel best when you're getting things done and keeping busy. On Saturday, a full moon occurs in Cancer, and this can be an emotional full moon, but you may keep most of it to yourself, not wanting to burden anyone with what you're feeling. You can focus more on the past, subconscious issues, or a secret that needs to come out, and you may be more vulnerable and sensitive. You may end the week spending time alone, wanting to tend to your soul needs and get some quiet.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Thursday

December 24th - 30th 2018

As we start the last full week of 2018, the Moon enters your sign on Monday, Leo, so you can quickly focus on the new projects, plans, and opportunities you want to take advantage of and pursue. You can come up with plenty of opportunities and new beginnings you want to get moving with as the year is coming to a close, and you can start 2019 off right. Later in the week, you can stick to whatever decisions you make, actions you take, or plans you put together, and you can believe in your abilities. You can feel centered and grounded, and can bring more stability and security into your life. Over the weekend, you can focus on the plans you have to work on, the information you need to gather, the advice you need to get, and sort through everything so you can figure out what to do when, and put yourself on the right path moving forward into the new year. You can be excited by what you come up with, and enthusiastic about your ideas.

Best days of the week for Leo: Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

December 31st 2018 - January 6th 2019

On Monday, Mars enters Aries, so 2018 ends with you going into a new year focused on big ideas, the big picture, and being optimistic over the coming weeks. You can focus on the bright side, and open yourself up to new experiences, expansion, and exploration. You can learn, teach, travel, speak up, and share wisdom with others. You can feel great about life, and want to share this with others. On Friday, Mercury enters Capricorn and your work sector, and you can have a much better eye for the details over the coming weeks, so you can merge the details with the big picture to get a better idea of what you want and how to make it happen. With the solar eclipse in Capricorn on Saturday, you can pursue opportunities to do the work you love, and make improvements to your daily life to make it more interesting and fun. It can also be a good time to improve your health and lifestyle. You may start the week giving yourself support and comfort, make more time for fun and play later in the week, and work a little harder and smarter over the weekend.

Best days of the week for Leo: Wednesday, Thursday, Friday

Leo 2018 Yearly Horoscopes

You can work on being more loving and affectionate, sharing the love you feel, and being more romantic. If in a relationship, you can make it feel like it did when you first met, and if single, you can play the field. Jupiter enters this sector in early November, and you'll have one year to expand the love in your life and be more playful and joyful, but to start, Mercury will be retrograde (appearing to move backward) in your love sector the second half of November, so you may have to deal with communication issues with loved ones and misunderstandings first.

Mars is in your relationship sector starting mid-May, bringing more energy and importance to your relationships and the people in your life, but is retrograde in this sector late June to mid-August, which can bring out problems with the people in your life and in your relationships. Take the time to work on problems and improve your connection so you're more committed coming out of the retrograde. Mars is back in this sector in early September to mid-November, and you can focus on making sure you're committed to the people you care about. A solar eclipse occurs on February 15th in this sector, and you can enter into a new relationship or partnership, and give support to loved ones if they're presented with new opportunities. A lunar eclipse occurs in this sector July 27th, during the Mars retrograde, and this can be the time when you're most concerned or stressed out or dealing with problems in your relationships or with someone in your life.

Neptune remains in your intimacy sector all year, and you can work on having a stronger spiritual connection within your intimate relationships. Mars is in this sector mid-November through the end of the year, so you can focus on having stronger emotional bonds with others, and want to feel like you have a soul bond as well.

Career & Money:

Uranus begins to dance in your career and goals sector in 2018, entering this sector briefly mid-May to early November. This is the start of a new transit, and you'll get change energy professionally moving forward. You can work on new goals, put yourself on a new path or take a new direction, or seek a career change. What you think you want can change, and you may not know what it is you'll want right now. It'll just come to you.

This year is a big year for you with work, as Saturn and Pluto are both in your work sector all year. You can take more work on and feel more under pressure, and may need to work on doing work that you love and are passionate about. If you're not passionate about what you do, that can become much worse this year, and you can crave more change. Mars is in this sector starting mid-March through mid-May, bringing more energy and attention to your goals, direction, and career, and retrogrades in this sector the second half of August, which is the time of year you can feel the least connected to what you're doing if you don't care for it. You may want to enact a change at that point, but don't rush into anything you haven't done your homework with yet. Make sure you've got all of your ducks in a row and don't act impulsively if you do make a change. Mars is in this sector until early September, and you can focus on getting on the right path.

Home & Family:

Jupiter remains in your home and family sector through early November, bringing positive and beneficial energy to your home and family life. You can improve your living situation, make a move, redecorate or renovate, or plan for more time with family, working on being more supportive and encouraging, and wanting more support and comfort from them. Mars is in this sector to start the year in January, so this is when you can get the best energy to focus on matters at home and with family. Venus retrogrades in this sector in October, and you may have a hard time getting along with family, having patience, and can lack love for your home. Try to give yourself some emotional comfort. Mercury retrogrades in this sector in the first week of December, and you may see little things go wrong at home or have misunderstandings and fights with family. Work to be more patient and listen.

Jupiter enters the sector ruling your children in early November, so if you have kids, this can bring good energy to your relationship with them, and you can work to grow closer and improve your connection with them. They may be presented with more opportunities over the year, and you can help them get attention and be in the spotlight. Mars is in this sector late January to mid-March, and they may have more energy and drive, and can be a little more rebellious, so try to give them the room to be themselves. Mercury retrogrades in this sector the second half of November, and they may get on your nerves a bit and push back against you, but they may just be looking for more attention from you.

Mental State:

Uranus is ending his time in one of the sectors ruling the mind this year, staying here to mid-May and coming back for one last round starting in early November. This transit has helped you to open your mind, have new experiences, and step outside of your comfort zones in ways that have helped you learn and grow. Mercury retrogrades in this sector late March to mid-April, and this can be a good time to revisit places you've been, things you've learned, go back to school, and review what you've come to understand. Venus retrogrades in the other sector ruling the mind the first half of November, and this can be another good time to revisit, though you may prefer to just give your mind a rest.

The July 12th solar eclipse occurs in the sector ruling your subconscious mind, and this can be a great eclipse to focus on the past and move on, work on subconscious issues and baggage and let it go, and eliminate some of what's been holding you back. You can deal with these things with a better approach and more positive outlook, and can feel ready to work.

General:

The super good for you in 2018 is you've got a lunar eclipse in your sign on January 31st, and a solar eclipse in your sign on August 11th. The lunar eclipse can heighten your emotions and bring more focus on what you've been doing right and wrong, so you can make progress and experience success if you've been smart and working hard and been responsible, or you can experience setbacks and delays if you haven't been, or you haven't cared for what you're working on. The solar eclipse is usually a great time to work on new projects, new beginnings, new journeys and new opportunities, BUT this solar eclipse occurs while Mercury is also retrograde in your sign, which is late July to mid-August. SO it's really best for second chances, and anything you've been wanting to take a second chance with but haven't done so yet, you can focus on doing so then. The energy can be excellent for a second chance, so think long and hard about what you'd like another shot at. But do know that during the retrograde, you may feel quite off, and can see a lot of little things go wrong and feel extra stressed, so be patient with yourself and don't take on too much. Those of you Leos born August 14th - 17th can feel the start of the retrograde most in late July, and those of you Leos born August 2nd - 5th can feel the end of the retrograde most in mid-August.

Month-by-Month Mini horoscopes:

January: Work on giving yourself some comfort and support to kick the year off. You may not be up for stepping outside of your comfort zone right now, and can instead find opportunities in the areas you're most familiar and comfortable. This can be a good time to work on something from the ground up, or strengthen the foundation of something.

February: You can inject a lot of love and fun into your relationships this month, and you can focus on trying to enjoy the time you get to spend with others, and being with the people who remind you to have fun constantly. This can inspire you, and you can be more open with what you're feeling and share the good vibes with all.

March: The month can start with you still taking time to enjoy yourself, but quickly work, tasks, and chores can demand your attention later in the month. A part of you may want to run away and get some space, but that's probably not going to happen or possible, so work to find some space within your limitations, and breathe.

April: Work can continue to dominate this month, and you can have so much to do that you forget or feel you don't have the time to take care of yourself, which can lead to some sickness, aches and pains, or general physical ickiness. When your body is calling for attention, you need to listen and take time to tend to what it needs.

May: You can start to come up with new ideas of what you want to achieve in your life, and this can make you shift your focus between work and relationships. You may work on trying to balance the two, and think more about how you can do that moving forward, perhaps making that a priority for your future.

June: If you're feeling out of balance this month, that can impact your ability to make decisions and handle everything you have on your plate, so if you're feeling unbalanced, try to tackle the reason why. It may be more than one, and it may be more complex than you think at the onset, but work on trying to find it.

July: You may start to tackle your plans on your own, without any interference from others this month, uncertain of who you can trust right now to give you good advice and information. This can lead to problems with communication later in the month, and you may find you're not on the same page with anyone.

August: Energy can be high this month in spite of the wonky energy you're dealing with, and you can find a spot of positive energy to focus on in the middle of it all. You may continue to struggle with the people in your life though, and need to work on making compromises that are fair for everyone involved to avoid stress.

September: The new moon on the 9th can be a great time to focus on improving your finances and bringing more stability and security into your life, which has likely been lacking in the last few months. You can focus on trying to keep the peace and get everyone to meet in the middle, helping you feel more confident and secure.

October: Matters at home may be a little difficult, and you can be more emotionally self-absorbed, maybe stuck in your own moods and having a subjective outlook. You probably need more support from the people in your life that you don't feel you're getting. Avoid throwing a fit and work on talking things out.

November: You may stick your foot in your mouth as the month starts, and have a hard time finding the right thing to say at the right moment, so maybe wait to say something. Later in the month, you can struggle with having time to enjoy yourself, instead needing to focus on something intense completely.

December: Your emotions can be stronger to start the month, and you may have a hard time expressing that with others, but you can sink in later in the month and gain some better understanding of what you're feeling. You can dig deep to find what you need to work on letting go of before the next year starts.
