Introduction: Money Astrology & the Planets

Welcome! We're going to focus on how the planets impact money in your natal chart and in transit. This will cover the standard set of 10 planets: the Sun, Moon, Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, and Pluto.

Grab your natal chart and see what applies for you, and then grab an ephemeris and track your transits to see what money energy you've got going now!

The Sun & Wealth

The Sun in your natal chart shows who you truly are to those who know you best. It's your true self and where you shine. In transit, the Sun shines a light on whatever it's touching. How does this impact money?

If your natal Sun is located in the 2nd house (of money), this can mean money is an important part of your security and being able to feel like your true self. Financial insecurity likely makes you hold back your true identity. This can also be true with your Sun conjunct (aligned with) dwarf planet Ceres, planet of money.

The Sun aspecting your natal 2nd house cusp, 2nd house ruler, or Ceres can impact money for you, with sextiles and trines (positive aspect) showing money is helpful and supportive in your life and you can have what you need easily, while squares and oppositions (challenging aspects) can show lack and insecurity that needs to be worked on.

In transit, the transit Sun touring your natal 2nd house can shed light on your financial situation and attitudes, and you may focus on financial plans or transactions. This happens for about 1 month every year. That month can bring a lot of attention to money matters in your life.

When the transit Sun is conjunct, sextile, or trine your natal 2nd house cusp, 2nd house ruler, or natal Ceres, this can bring helpful energy, and there can be opportunity for improvement.

When the transit Sun is square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres, this may bring challenging energy, and it can shine a light on difficulties you need to deal with. There may be blocks or problems that feel out of your control, and this can make you feel unstable and uncertain.

These aspects are short-lived (only a few days) so you don't have to suffer for long, but you do have to make sure you don't feel so tied up in money that you don't feel like yourself at all.

The Moon & Wealth

The Moon in your natal chart shows what you need for emotional stability and security. In transit, the transit Moon brings emotional focus and attention to whatever it's touching.

If your natal Moon is located in your 2nd house, this can show that money is important for you to feel emotionally stable and secure. You need that financial security to feel good emotionally. Without it, and you're likely insecure, easily frustrated and overwhelmed, and having trouble coping. The Moon ebbs and flows, so you likely have financial ebbs and flows throughout your life and need to learn how to roll with them. With the Moon ruling family, this can also show relying on your family for financial support.

Your emotions may also influence money in your life, so while you need money for emotional security, you may find that the more emotionally stable you are, the more money you have access to. They can feed each other.

The Moon aspecting your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show you experience those ebbs and flows, but with sextiles and trines, you can go with them more easily, and things tend to flow your way more. With squares and oppositions, you may feel it flows away from you or that something blocks the money flow and needs to be removed.

In transit, the transit Moon touring your natal 2nd house can be a period where you're more emotionally focused on your finances. You can make financial plans, and work on stability. The Moon travels fast, so this only lasts 2-3 days, but it does come along every month.

The transit Moon conjunct, sextile or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can help you to focus on those financial decisions, plans, and transactions in a beneficial while, while the transit Moon square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres show challenges financially. But, Moon aspects usually only last 4-6 hours, and sometimes hit when you're asleep and nothing happens, so you don't feel these aspects every month.

Mercury & Wealth

Mercury is the planet of the mind, and in your natal chart, your natal Mercury can show how you express yourself, use your mental energy, and what you have a lot of ideas and plans with. In transit, transit Mercury can bring mental focus, ideas, and plans.

Natal Mercury in your natal 2nd house can show that you're someone who is always coming up with financial ideas and plans. You likely get lots of advice about how to deal with money, make more, invest, and spend. You may do lots of research before you make important financial decisions. Sometimes, you may be of two minds when it comes to money though, and you can change your mind quickly. This can also be the case with natal Mercury conjunct your natal 2nd house ruler of Ceres.

Figuring out how to properly express yourself, feel heard and understood, may be key to having financial stability for you. Being in tune with your mind can help you get a grip on money.

Natal Mercury sextile or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show you have an easier time using your mind to improve your financial situations, and you can gather information you need and get good advice. Natal Mercury square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show your mind can get in the way sometimes, and you may overthink money matters, lack financial focus, or change your mind too much. You may need to get some control over your mind to stabilize your finances.

In transit, transit Mercury touring your natal 2nd house can be a time when you're making more financial decisions, putting together more financial plans, getting more financial advice, and talking over money matters more often. You may change your mind about a financial situation, especially when Mercury is retrograde (appearing to move backward).

Transit Mercury conjunct, sextile, or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show beneficial energy for financial decisions, ideas, and plans, and you can be quick on your feet with money matters. Transit Mercury square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show challenging energy for financial decisions, ideas, and plans, and you may need to find information you're missing or improve your focus.

Transit Mercury usually spends 3-4 weeks in a house each year (except when retrograde, when it can be 2 months), so you'll find transit Mercury in your 2nd house at some point each year for a few weeks. Transit Mercury aspects last a few days.

Venus & Wealth

Venus in the natal chart shows your relationships and people in your life, and has pleasant, easy energy. Transit Venus also brings that pleasant, easy energy.

Natal Venus in the natal 2nd house can show you have somewhat easy energy with money, though it can turn to laziness and indulgence sometimes. It can be easier to have what you need and then some. You may be more dependent on someone else to have it though (so it can be a good position for having a business partner). Having financial security and stability can help you have stable and secure relationships; at the same time, having stable, secure relationships can also help you have more financial opportunities. This can also be true with Venus conjunct your natal 2nd house ruler or natal Ceres, and these can also be a little lucky to have present.

Natal Venus sextile or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can bring helpful energy for dealing with money for you, and you're far less likely to be lazy, stubborn, indulgent, or selfish with your finances. Natal Venus square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can bring challenging energy for dealing with money, and you may be extra stubborn, get extra stuck sometimes, and have to find more motivation to get moving on financial issues. Pushing yourself to get going can be important.

Transit Venus touring your natal 2nd house can be a time when you have pleasant financial energy. It can be easier to manage money, get more money, and you can have less stress around your finances. You may get help financially from others, and you can benefit from your relationships. You may splurge more too, so that may need to be controlled. Transit Venus tours your natal 2nd house about once each year for 1 month (unless Venus retrogrades in the 2nd house, which can last a few months).

Transit Venus conjunct, sextile, or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can be excellent for money opportunities, and you can have some very positive money energy on your side. Transit Venus square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can amplify laziness, indulgence, and a lack of control with money. Venus aspects only last a few days.

Mars & Wealth

Mars is the planet of energy and drive, so in your natal chart, your natal Mars shows where you dedicate your energy, how you use it, and what motivates you to take action. In transit, Mars can bring energy and drive to whatever it's touching.

Natal Mars in your natal 2nd house can show you're someone who is willing to put in tons of energy to make money, and you can make a lot of it. But, you can also spend a lot of it, so that has to be learned to control, otherwise you just burn through everything you get your hands on. If you can control that, this is a good position to make a lot of money, but it'll usually be through your own work. This can also be the case with natal Mars conjunct your natal 2nd house ruler or natal Ceres.

Natal Mars sextile or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show you can put in the energy and find the motivation to make more, and have a better ability to control spending and waste. Natal Mars square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show you have a hard time controlling where it goes, keeping track of it, and may seem wasteful at times.

In transit, transit Mars touring your natal 2nd house can be an excellent period for making more money. You may take on extra work to make it though, and feel more motivated to do whatever work will make you the most. Transit Mars tours your natal 2nd house for about 2 months at a time every 2 years or so (unless it retrogrades in the 2nd house, and then transit Mars in the 2nd house can last for 6-8 months).

Transit Mars conjunct, sextile, or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can bring a great few days to a week where you're focused on improving your financial situation and have all of the energy and drive you need to do it. This can be a good time for financial decisions and transactions. Transit Mars square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can make financial matters more challenging, and you may be frustrated by something and act impulsively. Impatience must be controlled, and if you can control yourself, you can turn things around.

Jupiter & Wealth

Jupiter is the planet of expansion, and in the natal chart, natal Jupiter can show where you need space and can find opportunities throughout your life. Jupiter is a little luck, and luck may be on your side. Transit Jupiter can show where you find opportunities and luck at the moment.

Natal Jupiter in your natal 2nd house can show you're someone with a lot of money luck, for the most part. When things go your way, they REALLY go your way. But, since Jupiter expands, it can also be the reverse, and when things go bad, they REALLY go bad. It's just easier to turn things around when they do go bad for you, as long as you don't take advantage of or push your luck. This can also show the potential for having a lot of money at some point. All of this can also be true if your natal Jupiter is conjunct your natal 2nd house ruler or natal Ceres.

Natal Jupiter sextile or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show you can make your own luck financially, and pluck just the right financial opportunities. You can turn the tides your way. Transit Jupiter square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show you have to work to avoid being lazy financially, or lackadaisical about it, or prone to excessive spending. Motivation and control are needed.

Transit Jupiter touring your natal 2nd house happens for about 1 year one every 11-12 years, and is considered one of the best financial periods you have. You can pursue lots of money-making opportunities, and the chance to improve your financial situation is in your hands. On the flipside, if money is bad going into it, it may seem worse, but you can take control and turn it around much faster and easier.

Transit Jupiter conjunct, sextile, or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show great financial opportunities, and you can make things happen. This is a great period of about 1-2 weeks where you can improve money matters. Transit Jupiter square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can make you lazier with money matters, and you may go overboard with indulging. If you can find energy, motivation, and discipline, you can turn the challenging aspects into very positive ones though.

Saturn & Wealth

Saturn is the planet of limitation and restriction, but also rules your career and goals. This gives Saturn a direct link to your professional life, which can in turn impact you financially. But with Saturn being the planet of limitation and restriction, it may not seem like a good thing. Does Saturn give wealth, or take it away?

Transit (moving) Saturn tours through the Zodiac in an average of 30 years (28-32). The house where transit Saturn is currently located shows areas of life where you may have lessons to learn, have to take things seriously, and have to do the right thing at all times. When you don't, you get punished, and when you do, you can experience rewards, but usually after some time has passed.

Aspects by transit Saturn to your natal planets can show areas where you have to bring that energy, and you may find this easy and have stability with the easy aspects (sextiles and trines), or find this challenging and have way more work to do with the hard aspects (conjunctions, squares, and oppositions).

If transit Saturn is aspecting your 2nd house cusp or ruler (which is the house of money), this can have an impact on you financially. Sextiles and trines can show a stable period financially, while conjunctions, squares, and oppositions can show a time when you have to be really cautious financially and have a super save, no spend mentality. If you haven't been wise with your financial decisions, then a hard aspect by transit Saturn to the 2nd house cusp or ruler can make it worse, and you have to dig yourself out by doing things the right way at all times financially.

Transit Saturn in your 2nd house is a notorious time for making you feel like you have less, and you very well may, however it's quite often just a feeling of not having enough, rather than actually not having enough.

This can be strongest at the onset, when Saturn first enters your 2nd house. This lasts for about 2-3 years, and you have to be very smart with your financial choices during this time. Once it's over, you can experience great financial rewards, and this can be one instance in which Saturn does give wealth (though maybe not super riches!).

In your natal Saturn, Saturn can have influence over your money if aspecting the 2nd house cusp or ruler, or located in the 2nd house. If your natal Saturn is sextile or trine your 2nd house cusp or ruler, this can be helpful for stable financial energy. You may find it's easier for you to improve your finances as needed and to make solid financial decisions. You may be someone who always seems to know how to take care of yourself financially and make productive use of your resources.

If your natal Saturn is square your natal 2nd house cusp or ruler, or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, you may find you struggle at times to have what you need. You may have experienced major financial issues growing up, and this can lead you to always worry about money, even if you have plenty of it as an adult. You can make bad financial decisions when you're not paying close attention and doing lots of homework, and this can have long-term consequences. At the same time, you may be miserly and hoard as much as you can. Neither of these are good options, and you do need to be extra smart and think long-term with your money, but you also need to find a healthy place with that, not one of impulse-driven decisions that lead to big problems, or fear-driven decisions that lead to being a Scrooge.

If your natal Saturn is conjunct your 2nd house ruler or located in your 2nd house, you really have to be Saturn when it comes to your money. Be smart, make plans, do homework, and always think long-term. You may struggle with money until your first Saturn Return (around 28-32), and can get more financially secure with age. This can lead to great financial security in your golden years (so Saturn can give wealth when you're old, in this case). But again, you need to do it right so there's no punishment. You may also find that what you do to make money is ruled by Saturn (so perhaps something in politics, the government, where you're the boss, etc.), and this can lead Saturn to give wealth down the line.

Uranus & Wealth

Uranus is the planet of the sudden and unexpected, ruling change. In your natal chart, Uranus shows where you need things to be different, and where you may experience change throughout your life. It's the place you can get bored easily without something fresh and exciting.

In transit, Uranus brings changes to your life. Under easy aspects (sextiles and trines), this can be beneficial and enjoyable, and you might create the changes yourself. Under hard aspects (conjunctions, squares, and oppositions), the changes may be more challenging, and you either experience changes you don't want or want change you can't have. Flexibility is required under the hard aspects.

In the natal chart, Uranus in your 2nd house (of money) can show you make money in spurts (a "regular job" may not be for you), and it can show experiencing financial highs and lows. This means wealth may be something that comes to you all of a sudden, all at once, and unexpectedly.

You may see this with Uranus conjunct (aligned with) your 2nd house ruler as well (the natural planetary ruler of the sign on the 2nd house cusp). Uranus at odds with your 2nd house ruler (square or opposite) may show financial difficulties that come out of the blue, and there's a need to be financially smart and avoid being impulsive. Uranus at a beneficial aspect (sextile or trine) your natal 2nd house ruler can show you can roll with any changes and be inventive with how you make/manage money.

When transit Uranus is touring your natal 2nd house, this can bring change to your financial life. You might make money in new ways, take a different approach to managing money, and it can dry up fast and become abundant just as fast. Making some change does become important to try and get a handle on it. You may also see this with Uranus conjunct your natal 2nd house ruler.

Transit Uranus sextile/trine your natal 2nd house ruler can be an excellent time for making financial changes that are of benefit for you. Transit Uranus square/opposite your 2nd house ruler can bring about financial changes you're not happy with and a need for greater flexibility, or you may be more impulsive and need to get some self-control and do your homework first before doing anything.

Neptune & Wealth

Natal Neptune in the 2nd house can show you might make money through Neptune, so working on spirituality or the arts, or helping others or in the medical field. You can have great money instincts when you know how to listen to them.

But, Neptune is the foggy planet, so you often may feel like you don't have all of the information you need when you make financial decisions. That makes honing your intuition important for your financial stability.

On the upside, you can be highly charitable, and use your money to help others. On the downside, you may be more likely to feel like you don't ever have enough until your intuition is honed.

Neptune in aspect to your natal Venus or Ceres can help or challenge you financially. Sextile or trine, the beneficial aspects, and your intuition can be strong and you feel less fogginess in your decision-making. Square or opposite, the challenging aspects, and you may feel you have to work a lot harder to keep your handle on money and stay more grounded otherwise you make bad financial decisions.

Neptune conjunct your natal Venus or Ceres, or your 2nd house ruler, can show Neptune is hugely influential in your finances. Making money in a Neptune way is likely the way to go for you, while also strengthening intuition and holding firm to boundaries.

Neptune in the 8th house or aspecting your natal Pluto can show this impacting the money you have with other people. You may need to work harder at maintaining proper boundaries with them, otherwise you may take over them financially or they may take over you. The line can blur very easily.

Boundaries in general can be difficult to maintain with Neptune in the 2nd or 8th houses, aspecting your natal Venus or Ceres, or aspecting your natal 2nd house ruler (especially conjunct, square, opposite). It's easier for you to get taken advantage of, and you need to learn how to say no to people (even family).

Transit (moving) Neptune in your natal 2nd or 8th houses or aspecting your natal Venus, Ceres, or 2nd house ruler can put this energy in play, but only temporarily.

Pluto & Wealth

Pluto is the planet of power, passion, and transformation, and in the natal chart, can show where you need to take control, find personal power, and transform. In transit, Pluto can show where you need to do this at the moment.

Natal Pluto in your natal 2nd house can show that money may be a source of power struggles and control issues for you. You may have had to fight over money in your young years, didn't have enough, and struggled quite a bit. There is likely a transformation involved, either with money specifically or in some way that impacts it indirectly, and once you get through that transformation, then you can get control. Find personal power and that can help bring more money to you. Channel your passion into something productive and positive, and you can attain massive wealth. This can also be true with natal Pluto conjunct your natal 2nd house ruler or natal Ceres.

Natal Pluto sextile or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show you have an easier time finding your power and taking control financially, and don't have to struggle so much. You can be seen as powerful financially. Natal Pluto square or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can show your power and control issues may be bigger, and the transformation required may be more important.

Transit Pluto touring your natal 2nd house doesn't happen for everyone (it depends on where Pluto was when you were born since it moves so slow). Pluto in the 2nd house can be slightly traumatic and dramatic since it likes to strip money away from us if we're not using money the right way, don't have the right attitude about money, are making it in nefarious ways, or if we're relying on it too heavily for our sense of self. Pluto will burn it all down and make you start over. It's best to take control of the transformation and work on being better with money overall on your own before it even hits so you can avoid the trauma and drama. This tour can last for 10-20 years.

Transit Pluto sextile or trine your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can be an excellent period for having more financial power and control, and you can feel way more confident about your finances and financial abilities. Transit Pluto conjunct, square, or opposite your natal 2nd house ruler, 2nd house cusp, or natal Ceres can be a period of power struggles and control issues, and a transformation is required in some way. But, if you can transform for the better, you can unlock massive opportunities for wealth that last for years.
