This helps to increase the likelihood that you'll stick with it, at least for a little while. Later in the week, you can turn your attention toward your emotions, what you're feeling about situations or people, and you may go over old memories and how events and people made you feel. You can really get deep into your feelings, and gain better understanding of yourself, but may have a harder time being objective. Midweek, you can work on getting done as much work as you can, and the more you do, the more energy you may feel you have to get more done, and you may be tempted to keep going. Do what you can, but don't stress yourself out with an unrealistic workload. Later in the week, you can work to be better balanced, and this can be helpful for you long-term. The more balanced you are, the easier it can be to handle any challenges you have to deal with. Neptune remains in your love sector all year, helping you focus on more spiritual, soulful connections in love, and be more understanding and compassionate with your loved ones. Mars is in your love sector mid-November to the end of the year, and you can focus more on sharing the love you feel, being there for your loved ones, bringing more love and joy into your life, and having fun. This may be a good time for dating, if single, and if in a relationship, you can work to reignite the flames.

Uranus begins to tour your relationship sector mid-May through early November, and you can start to experience shifts in your relationships. You may see changes with the people in your life, or you may start craving more changes in your relationships. What you want from other people can change, and what you want in a partner may change. You can become attracted to people you ordinarily wouldn't care for or think of, and you can take a different approach to your relationships.

Career & Money:

Uranus is coming to the end of his time in your work sector this year, staying in this sector until mid-May and coming back for the last round in early November. The kind of work you've wanted, the work you've attracted, and your approach to work has likely shifted over the last few years, and any final changes you want to make with your work life can be focused on now. Mercury retrogrades (appears to move backward) in your work sector mid-March through mid-April, and this can be a period for change with your work if you're unhappy with what you're doing. It can be good for going back to work somewhere you've worked before or in a job you've done before.

Mars is in your money sector late January through mid-March, and you can pursue financial opportunities, work to improve your finances and bring more stability and security to your finances, work on budgets and financial plans, and gather financial advice and information. Jupiter enters your money sector early November, and you get a one year period that can be excellent for pursuing financial opportunities, creating new opportunities, increasing your finances, and setting yourself up well. That may not be the case at the start though with Mercury retrograde in your money sector the second half of November, and you may need to address money situations and financial choices.

The January 31st lunar eclipse occurs in your career sector, and you can make progress and experience success with your goals and ambitions if you've worked hard, smart, and responsibly for something you're passionate about. If you haven't worked hard, done your homework, been responsible, or don't care for what you're doing, you can experience setbacks and need to adjust what you're doing. The August 11th solar eclipse occurs in your career sector, and you can set new goals, feel more ambitious, get attention for achievements, or meet the right people in the right places.

Home & Family:

The February 15th solar eclipse occurs in your home and family sector, and you can plan for more time with your family, focus on new outings and gatherings, and work on improving your relationships with your family or the people you think of as family. Mars enters your home and family sector mid-May, and brings more energy and focus to your home and family life, and is retrograde in this sector late June through mid-August, and you may encounter arguments, have a hard time getting along, or have to deal with old issues with your family. A lunar eclipse occurs July 27th in this sector during the retrograde, so you can work to let go and resolve problems with family or at home. Mars comes back to this sector mid-September to mid-November, and you can work on connecting and being supportive.

Neptune is in the sector ruling your children all year, so if you have any, you can continue to be more sacrificing, understanding, and empathic with your children. Mars is in this sector mid-November through the end of the year, and you can spend more time with your children, give them more of your attention, and they can be more energized and enthusiastic.

Mental State:

Pluto and Saturn are in one of the sectors ruling the mind for you all year, keeping your outlook and mood more serious and somber. Mars is in this sector mid-March to mid-May, increasing mental energy and bringing new ideas, but is retrograde in this sector the second half of August, and you can have a hard time with focus, get into fights with others, or are defensive of your ideas and need to be more open. Mars leaves mid-September, and you can refocus on your plans.

The July 12th solar eclipse occurs in the other sector ruling the mind, and you can be much more positive and upbeat with this eclipse. You can think bigger, work on plans for expansion, and open up your mind to new experiences and new knowledge.

Venus retrogrades in the sector ruling your subconscious mind the first half of November, and you may be lazy about issues from the past and subconscious issues you need to work out, especially that impact your relationships. Work on the issues instead of shoving them down further.

General:

Jupiter is in your sign to start the year until early November, so this can feel like your year in a lot of ways. You can find more opportunities, expand your life in new ways, and you feel you can do more. Mars is in Scorpio to start the year as well, so you may kick the year off with January being one of your best months. Your energy and drive can be high, and you can hit the ground running to make this a great year for you.

It's not all sunshine though. Venus will retrograde in your sign in October, and you can be lazier, more indulgent and stubborn, more focused on yourself, or have a hard time dealing with other people. You may need to work on issues with yourself as well as with love. Mercury retrogrades in your sign the first week of December, and you can experience communication problems, have a hard time being understood, lack focus or mental discipline, and can experience all manner of little things going wrong. support, and rest. You may want to indulge more and feel lazier, and don't see the need to rush into anything. Try not to deal with anything too big.
